A sub-zero cold wave was expected to deepen tonight after gripping rural Columbiana County in an official 17 - below early today.

The next - to - the - lowest December mark in years was set at Edwin Copeland's U. S. weather station at Millport. The previous low was 18 below for this date.

The Ohio weatherman said tonight's low range will be zero to 10 below — indicating rural sections may get still colder lows than last night.

Dam 8 at Newell had only 2 below early today, or 15 degrees "milder" than was recorded in the rural sections. Fredericktown reported 14 below and it fell to 10 below in Hammondsville.

Another of the lowest readings in the Buckeye State — 11 below—was at the Akron- Canton Airport.

Dayton had a reading of 9 below, Toledo 6 below, Youngstown 4 below, Zanesville 9 below and Columbus 8 below. There was an unofficial reading of 13 below at Marion, but this figure wasn't available to the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Columbus.

The high temperature in the state was 9 above, at Chesapeake along the Ohio River.

In Cleveland, a 5.1-below zero reading shattered the Dec. 10 record set in 1917 and Columbus' 8 below was 2 degrees above its record for the day, also set in 1917.

Cold records in other cities also were broken for the period.

Other official low marks included 6 below at Findlay and 1 above at Cincinnati.

Eastern Ohio had warning of the cold wave — a low of zero to 5 below had been forecast yesterday and temperatures began falling in the afternoon.

The Newell dam recorded zero at 4 a. m. and 2 below at 5 a.m. The mercury rose to zero by 9 a. m. then began climbing slowly to the expected day's high of 10 to 15 — far below freezing.

The cold will moderate somewhat Thursday and Friday but return Saturday and Sunday, according to the five - day forecast of the Ohio Weather Bureau at Columbus.

There was only one consolation — it is too cold to snow.

Only flurries are forecast through Thursday with a chance

First Ice Appears In River Near Dam

The first ice of the season was developing in the Ohio River today and Lockmaster Harry Smith at Dam 8 said the continued cold wave will thicken the sheeting.

The ice appeared in the vicinity of the dam. Rural creeks were frozen over and with more sub-zero weather due, ponds and outdoor rinks should be ready for skating by Thursday.

Bryan Asks Extreme Caution

Fire Hazard Stressed

Fire Chief Charles Bryan termed the water situation "very serious" and urged that extreme caution be exercised by residents to avert fires.

All fire hydrants in the Pleasant Heights, Gardendale and Route 7 sections are useless and firemen will be without an adequate supply of water to fight any major blaze, he said.

He asked all residents to inspect their homes from the attic to the cellar every two hours to make sure no fires are smouldering.

Bryan declared he cannot overemphasize the seriousness of the situation. "All the water the department will have will be what can be carried in the pumper tanks," he explained.

Glenmoor volunteers and the Liverpool Township, East and West stations are all on standby in case of a fire.

The East End station has been closed and the truck brought to Central Station so it can be used in case of an emergency.

All fire calls to the emergency area will be answered with three trucks, Bryan said.

He also urged that East End residents exercise caution since that station has been closed.

Bryan also asked all residents in the area without water to check their hot water tanks. Old-fashioned side - arm heaters without pilot light shutoff will continue to burn and since no water enters, that within is liable to be heated to the point where it will cause the tank to explode, if the flame should be left high.

Automatic heaters turn themselves off when a high temperature is reached, he said.

All off - duty firemen have been placed on standby call and all leaves and furloughs cancelled, Bryan said.

DRAINING BROKEN MAIN. Three city employes used a gasoline-powered portable pump this morning to drain water for a main serving the Pleasant Heights area, part of the repair work that went on all night after a break developed about 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in a 10-inch main just off Dresden Ave. The water is being pumped out of a "blowoff hole" below Dresden Ave., draining water in the main that serves Pleasant Heights and the nearby area. Richard Cunningham is working over the pump while James Click, center, and Robert Noland look on. The repair will be completed late tonight or early Thursday, the water department said.

Service May Not Resume By Tonight

Replacement Valve Search Could Mean Turn-On Thursday

The city water department expects to complete repairs late tonight or early Thursday on a break in a 10-inch high pressure main just off Dresden Ave. that developed Tuesday night about 6:30, cutting off service to 1,000 homes on Pleasant Heights and in parts of California Hollow and Gardendale and forcing closing of the Pleasant Heights and LaCroft Schools.

The break, which is located on the sheer hillside of Trentvale St. about 100 yards upgrade from the 1300 block of Dresden Ave., was uncovered this morning by a six-man crew that worked all night in temperatures that ranged down to a low of 2 degrees below zero.

But in order to complete the repair, the water department must replace a big valve which is split from top to bottom. There is no replacement for the part in the local department's stock pile and none could be located in the shops of other nearby water departments.

That necessitated a trip to a supplier at Leetsdale, near Pittsburgh, which means the break cannot be repaired until late tonight or early tomorrow, according to Assistant Supt. Donald T. Duke.

Because of the water famine throughout the Pleasant Heights-LaCroft-Sherwood area, the fire department called all its men to duty today. Chief Charles Bryan said any call from the affected areas will be answered by three pumpers which carry their own limited water supplies.

The closing of the two school buildings affected 470 pupils. Of the affected homes, water department records show about 800 are on Pleasant Heights, with approximately 100 in the Dresden Ave. section from the site of the break to the city limits and another 100 in part of Gardendale.

Duke said first word of the break came about 6:30 when the department received a telephone call that a home on LaCroft Ave., LaCroft, was without water. A moment later a householder on Trentvale St. reported a big break near his home.

The break is in a line that feeds out of the Henry Ave. standpipes, descending the steep hillside from North Side into California Hollow and then climbing up the sheer cliff out of the hollow to the Heights.

Duke said the break probably could be blamed on "metal fatigue," a chance break in an old piece of cast iron.

Duke and Distribution Foreman Harold Peterson supervised the work on uncovering the break. Duke left the job at midnight, but Peterson remained at the scene with the six men—four of his own crew and two loaned by the street department. The men helped keep themselves warm with a fire built of scrap wood.

Picks and shovels made no headway in the frozen ground, so the crew obtained a pneumatic hammer to make the excavation. The break is in a valve box about five feet beneath the surface. A big excavation was made around the metal valve box to get to the break.

When the break first occurred, a couple of traffic hazards developed nearby on busy Dresden Ave., a link in Routes 7 and 30. Heavy clouds of "steam" rose into the air, obscuring drivers' vision. The white clouds were caused by con-

Former Policeman Testifies

Stuttler's Counsel Attacks Fingerprint's Authenticity

Albert Kittridge of Chester Ave., also former city policeman, testified as the defense began its case this morning, bolstered by an overnight confirmation that a palm print also found at the store is not that of Stuttler.

Kittridge testified this morning the latent fingerprint and inked record of Stuttler's right index finger are not the same, contradicting testimony by a prosecution witness, Arnold Fetter, who said Tuesday there are 13 points of similarity in the two prints.

Fetter, identification supervisor at the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, returned briefly to the stand this morning to report a palm print found at the store was not the defendant's.

Stuttler had been printed voluntarily at the Courthouse yesterday afternoon to determine if his print matched. Fetter compared the prints last night.

As Prosecutor G. William Brokaw's chief witness in the trial, which began Monday before Judge Raymond Buzzard, Fetter said the smudged print "was not perfect" but it met the requirements for identification with Stuttler on 13 characteristics of patterns of skin ridges.

Kittridge said he examined the enlargement of the smudged print yesterday and found only one point of similarity with Stuttler's print.

Of the other points listed by Fetter, Kittridge said while tracing them one by one on the enlargements, were "not there . . . not comparable . . . impossible to compare . . . not in the same place."

Kittridge received instruction from Fetter at London in a refresher course in 1952.

He also said he found ridges on one picture not on the other and said the smudged print looked as if it were on top of another print.

In referring to the similarity of the one point, he said millions of prints are similar in some points or some characteristics.

Asked by Atty. Sam Chertoff, defense counsel, the minimum number of points for identification, Kittridge said he had always been taught at least 12 points are required. Fetter said yesterday identification could be made on as little as three points in certain cases.

Kittridge said he had studied fingerprint identification and classification at the crime bureau at London while he was a guard at the London Prison Farm in 1938. He said he also had taken other courses and FBI instruction on fingerprinting. He added he had testified in court in other cases on fingerprints.

Under cross - examination by Brokaw, Kittridge said he had testified twice in Municipal Court, once in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon and once in Federal Court at Cleveland. Kittridge is currently employed by a transportation insurance firm.

The trial was delayed for 40 minutes this morning because of the late arrival of Brokaw, who had difficulty in starting his car in the freezing weather.

Fetter was the sole witness Tuesday — most of the morning under direct questioning by Prosecutor Brokaw and in the afternoon under cross - examination by Atty. Chertoff.

Using the enlargements of the latent fingerprint found on the wall at the store and the enlargement of a print of Stuttler's right index finger, Chertoff had Fetter point out the 13 similarities in the two print patterns.

Under questioning by the defense attorney, Fetter said the

Sharpest Clash Since Little Rock

New State Vs. U.S. Test Boils Over Negro Voting

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An explosive new test of strength between the state and federal governments—unequaled since Little Rock—boiled up in Alabama today over the issue of Negro voting.

State and county officials who defied the U.S. Civil Rights Commission's first attempt to investigate complaints of racial discrimination stood their ground in the face of threatened federal court action.

The Justice Department in Washington, acting at the commission's request, started proceedings Tuesday to ask for a court order to compel voter registration officials to produce their records and answer questions about the conduct of their offices.

U.S. District Atty. Hartwell Davis in Montgomery said a short time later his office was "working on" a petition to be filed with District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. but declined to say when the action might be taken.

Refusal to obey a federal court order, if Johnson issues one, could bring jail sentences for contempt.

In the two-day hearing, which came to an abrupt halt Tuesday, six voter registrars refused to be question about registration of voters.

The commission was equally unsuccessful in getting access to the registration files it had subpoenaed in six counties. In one fashion or another they had all been turned over to local authorities.

Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson, who directed the massive resistance, denounced the hearing as an unwarranted invasion of states rights.

Patterson, 37-year-old governor-elect, said he welcomed the chance to fight it out in court, and promised to use "every means available to us" to protect the Alabama officials. While he didn't spell it out, it was almost certain that Patterson intends to appeal to higher courts if the district court orders the registration records surrendered to the commission.

A similar defiant challenge came from Circuit Judge George Wallace of Clayton, Ala., who refused even to appear at the commission hearing. He already had impounded registration records in two counties before the civil rights agency called for them.

Ike Attacks Public Officials In Vote Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called it reprehensible for public officials to refuse to produce evidence about Negro voter registration.

U.S. Reducing Naval, Air Units In Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States is reducing both its air and naval forces in the Formosa area now that the Communist threat to the offshore islands has lessened.

Noble Resigns Directorship Of Ohio Roads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Charles M. Noble has resigned as Ohio's highway director.

The former New Jersey Turnpike engineer, in submitting his resignation Tuesday to Gov. C. William O'Neill, said he will return to his home state to become a consulting engineer.

Noble's $30,000 - a - year salary, $5,000 more than O'Neill himself draws, was the target for much criticism, especially from Democrats. Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic governor-elect, made the salary an issue in his successful election campaign. DiSalle also criticized the importation of a highway director from another state.

When first appointed to the highway post, he had the title of assistant to the governor for highways affairs. This was because under Ohio law, a non-resident of the state must wait a year before taking over the directorship of a state department.

Reds Snub Bid To Link Berlin, West Germany

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists today turned down a suggestion for linking West Berlin with West Germany by an international corridor through East Germany.

West German Mayor Willy Brandt made the suggestion of a corridor to guarantee traffic in and out of the isolated city.

Firemen On Standby

LISBON — Firemen were called to stand by at a brick building being razed at Jefferson and Chestnut Sts. when a fire of trash wood inside got out of control Tuesday at 4:10 p. m. The workmen were burning old wood inside the building, which is being razed to make a parking lot for the Hillyer Foodliner store. The brick walls caved in about 10 p. m.

It's Precious Commodity

Householders Tote Water For Shaving And Coffee

Commonplace water suddenly became a precious commodity Tuesday night in three East Liverpool residential sections when a "famine" hit 1,000 homes because of the line break near Dresden Ave.

When they discovered that service would not be restored quickly, some of the householders of adventurous spirit ventured from Pleasant Heights downtown with gallon milk containers to "borrow" enough for shaving or coffee-brewing.

Some families had managed to clear away the dinner dishes before the supply went out at 6:30. Others took advantage of the excuse to allow the dirty dishes to rest in the sink.

One Pleasant Heights man obtained a five - gallon milk can from a dairy concern and used it to haul a water supply to Pleasant Heights. Then he invited his neighbors to bring in their gallon containers and help themselves.

City Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, also high school dean of boys, was caught between the water shortage and the sub-zero cold.

Without water at his home on Lisbon St., he decided to drive downtown bright and early to shave at his City Hall office. The car started fine because it is kept in a heated garage in the basement of the home.

But after he had shaved, the car refused to start again to take him from City Hall to the high school. Dawson and several city employes labored over the balky auto, partly dismantling the carburetor because the gas line seemed to be frozen. He finally gave up, left the car in Peach Alley, and walked to school.

Soviet Claims Gigantic Stock Of A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev claims the Soviet Union has made so many nuclear weapons that it may soon begin dismantling some of them.

One of the weapons, Khrushchev told Sen. Hubert Humphrey a week ago, is an efficient and compact five-megaton hydrogen bomb. A megaton is equivalent to the force of a million tons of TNT.

In missiles development, he said, the Soviets have achieved a missile with a range of 14,000 kilometers (8,694 miles).

These are among the highlights of the senator's eight-hour talk with Khrushchev, on which Humphrey reported to President Eisenhower in an 80-minute conversation Tuesday and to State Department officials Monday.

The new, specific information on Soviet capabilities, or claimed capabilities, in the nuclear weapons and military rocket field was described by competent government authorities here as being of great interest but not surprising.

Newell Plans For Parade, Yule 'Treat'

Plans for Newell's annual Christmas parade and candy treat for children were completed when representatives of five civic organizations met Tuesday night in the American Legion Post 114 home.

The parade, featuring a Santa Claus riding on the community's fire truck, will be held Thursday, Dec. 18, at 6 p. m. Treats will be distributed at the fire station on Washington St. The parade will include the Wells High School Band.

Treats distributed by Santa Claus will be for children up to and including 12 years of age, it was announced. Rebekah Lodge 74 will donate a Christmas tree for the occasion.

Miss Phyllis Stoneburner represented the Rebekah organization at the meeting.

Other representatives included Ted Ulbright of the Boosters Club, Elmer Peters of the volunteer fire department, Orrell Johnson of the American Legion and Mrs. Sadie Nally, Mrs. Mae Hupp and Mrs. Virginia Copestick of the Legion's auxiliary. Members of the Women's Club will also help with the parade and candy treats.

DRAINING BROKEN MAIN. Three city employes used a gasoline-powered portable pump this morning to drain water for a main serving the Pleasant Heights area, part of the repair work that went on all night after a break developed about 6:30 p. m. Replacement Valve Search Could Mean Turn-On Thursday

The city water department expects to complete repairs late tonight or early Thursday on a break in a 10-inch high pressure main just off Dresden Ave. that developed Tuesday night about 6:30, cutting off service to 1,000 homes on Pleasant Heights and in parts of California Hollow and Gardendale and forcing closing of the Pleasant Heights and LaCroft Schools.

Former Policeman Testifies

Stuttler's Counsel Attacks Fingerprint's Authenticity

Albert Kittridge of Chester Ave., also former city policeman, testified as the defense began its case this morning, bolstered by an overnight confirmation that a palm print also found at the store is not that of Stuttler.

Sharpest Clash Since Little Rock

New State Vs. U.S. Test Boils Over Negro Voting

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An explosive new test of strength between the state and federal governments—unequaled since Little Rock—boiled up in Alabama today over the issue of Negro voting.

State and county officials who defied the U.S. Civil Rights Commission's first attempt to investigate complaints of racial discrimination stood their ground in the face of threatened federal court action.

The Justice Department in Washington, acting at the commission's request, started proceedings Tuesday to ask for a court order to compel voter registration officials to produce their records and answer questions about the conduct of their offices.

U.S. District Atty. Hartwell Davis in Montgomery said a short time later his office was "working on" a petition to be filed with District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. but declined to say when the action might be taken.

Refusal to obey a federal court order, if Johnson issues one, could bring jail sentences for contempt.

In the two-day hearing, which came to an abrupt halt Tuesday, six voter registrars refused to be question about registration of voters.

The commission was equally unsuccessful in getting access to the registration files it had subpoenaed in six counties. In one fashion or another they had all been turned over to local authorities.

Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson, who directed the massive resistance, denounced the hearing as an unwarranted invasion of states rights.

Patterson, 37-year-old governor-elect, said he welcomed the chance to fight it out in court, and promised to use "every means available to us" to protect the Alabama officials. While he didn't spell it out, it was almost certain that Patterson intends to appeal to higher courts if the district court orders the registration records surrendered to the commission.

A similar defiant challenge came from Circuit Judge George Wallace of Clayton, Ala., who refused even to appear at the commission hearing. He already had impounded registration records in two counties before the civil rights agency called for them.

Ike Attacks Public Officials In Vote Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called it reprehensible for public officials to refuse to produce evidence about Negro voter registration.

U.S. Reducing Naval, Air Units In Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States is reducing both its air and naval forces in the Formosa area now that the Communist threat to the offshore islands has lessened.

Noble Resigns Directorship Of Ohio Roads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Charles M. Noble has resigned as Ohio's highway director.

The former New Jersey Turnpike engineer, in submitting his resignation Tuesday to Gov. C. William O'Neill, said he will return to his home state to become a consulting engineer.

Noble's $30,000 - a - year salary, $5,000 more than O'Neill himself draws, was the target for much criticism, especially from Democrats. Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic governor-elect, made the salary an issue in his successful election campaign. DiSalle also criticized the importation of a highway director from another state.

When first appointed to the highway post, he had the title of assistant to the governor for highways affairs. This was because under Ohio law, a non-resident of the state must wait a year before taking over the directorship of a state department.

Reds Snub Bid To Link Berlin, West Germany

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists today turned down a suggestion for linking West Berlin with West Germany by an international corridor through East Germany.

West German Mayor Willy Brandt made the suggestion of a corridor to guarantee traffic in and out of the isolated city.

Firemen On Standby

LISBON — Firemen were called to stand by at a brick building being razed at Jefferson and Chestnut Sts. when a fire of trash wood inside got out of control Tuesday at 4:10 p. m. The workmen were burning old wood inside the building, which is being razed to make a parking lot for the Hillyer Foodliner store. The brick walls caved in about 10 p. m.

It's Precious Commodity

Householders Tote Water For Shaving And Coffee

Commonplace water suddenly became a precious commodity Tuesday night in three East Liverpool residential sections when a "famine" hit 1,000 homes because of the line break near Dresden Ave.

When they discovered that service would not be restored quickly, some of the householders of adventurous spirit ventured from Pleasant Heights downtown with gallon milk containers to "borrow" enough for shaving or coffee-brewing.

Some families had managed to clear away the dinner dishes before the supply went out at 6:30. Others took advantage of the excuse to allow the dirty dishes to rest in the sink.

One Pleasant Heights man obtained a five - gallon milk can from a dairy concern and used it to haul a water supply to Pleasant Heights. Then he invited his neighbors to bring in their gallon containers and help themselves.

City Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, also high school dean of boys, was caught between the water shortage and the sub-zero cold.

Without water at his home on Lisbon St., he decided to drive downtown bright and early to shave at his City Hall office. The car started fine because it is kept in a heated garage in the basement of the home.

But after he had shaved, the car refused to start again to take him from City Hall to the high school. Dawson and several city employes labored over the balky auto, partly dismantling the carburetor because the gas line seemed to be frozen. He finally gave up, left the car in Peach Alley, and walked to school.

Soviet Claims Gigantic Stock Of A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev claims the Soviet Union has made so many nuclear weapons that it may soon begin dismantling some of them.

One of the weapons, Khrushchev told Sen. Hubert Humphrey a week ago, is an efficient and compact five-megaton hydrogen bomb. A megaton is equivalent to the force of a million tons of TNT.

In missiles development, he said, the Soviets have achieved a missile with a range of 14,000 kilometers (8,694 miles).

These are among the highlights of the senator's eight-hour talk with Khrushchev, on which Humphrey reported to President Eisenhower in an 80-minute conversation Tuesday and to State Department officials Monday.

The new, specific information on Soviet capabilities, or claimed capabilities, in the nuclear weapons and military rocket field was described by competent government authorities here as being of great interest but not surprising.

Newell Plans For Parade, Yule 'Treat'

Plans for Newell's annual Christmas parade and candy treat for children were completed when representatives of five civic organizations met Tuesday night in the American Legion Post 114 home.

The parade, featuring a Santa Claus riding on the community's fire truck, will be held Thursday, Dec. 18, at 6 p. m. Treats will be distributed at the fire station on Washington St. The parade will include the Wells High School Band.

Treats distributed by Santa Claus will be for children up to and including 12 years of age, it was announced. Rebekah Lodge 74 will donate a Christmas tree for the occasion.

Miss Phyllis Stoneburner represented the Rebekah organization at the meeting.

Other representatives included Ted Ulbright of the Boosters Club, Elmer Peters of the volunteer fire department, Orrell Johnson of the American Legion and Mrs. Sadie Nally, Mrs. Mae Hupp and Mrs. Virginia Copestick of the Legion's auxiliary. Members of the Women's Club will also help with the parade and candy treats.

Reds Suspend Papers

PARIS (AP)—The French Communist party today embarked on a drastic austerity program, including suspension of three Red newspapers in the provinces. The party's recent drubbing in the election of a new National Assembly cut its revenue some $113,000 a month.

Stand Up And Take A Bow, Joe

Though talking about what was learned from the latest recession sounds a little like a fire prevention lecture among the smoldering embers, the topic is getting to be popular.

The recession is not over, but it seems to be receding. It is far enough away to be viewed by hindsight — and a hero already has been named.

He is Joe Doakes, the ordinary consumer. Joe never lost his head. He refused to jump out the window, or step in front of a truck. He had confidence when many politicians and businessmen were on the verge of panic.

What money he had, he spent. He shifted spending emphasis from durable goods to non-durable goods and services so adroitly that the net decrease of total spending was inconsequential. Men like Arthur F. Burns, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, think Joe Doakes deserves a medal.

Thanks to his level-headedness, no downward spiral developed. But the oddity is that the upward spiral — the pattern of inflation —continued. Economists who used to think of the ups and downs of the business cycle are being forced to change their minds. Prices do not fall any more. Wages do not fall. Even spending does not fall appreciably. Everything goes up endlessly. There are no downs—just sidewise motions.

Thanks to consumer confidence and government intervention to maintain dollar turnover, stability has been achieved. Collapse and panic have been averted.

There remains much to be done about unemployment insurance, for example. Government spending, it has been demonstrated, takes too long to show any effect. Tax reduction, in all probability, would have a more stimulating and a much quicker effect.

But the biggest achievement that anyone ever dared to dream of was the creation of enough confidence so the cry of "Wolf!" would not panic ordinary consumers. And that seems to have been done.

Thinking back to some of the wild things said in and out of Congress early this year, when the political dogs were beginning to think of running the voting sheep, one must admit that the Doakes of America had every provocation to go into economic hysterics.

But they stood firm. The sheep ran the dogs, for a change, and thereby made history.

Carrol M. Shanks, president of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, put it like this in a speech early this fall:

"The consumer is the No. 1 consideration in our economic system. The customer may not always be right, but he is always necessary, and there is a limit beyond which he is likely to revolt at the kind of treatment given him by business, labor and the government. We should not forget that if the consumer had revolted in any of the three postwar recessions, we inevitably would have drifted into a full-fledged depression. . . . Remember the consumer and be good to him."

Busy Times In Celestial Shootin' Gallery

That was pretty good shooting at Cape Canaveral, when the Army's rocket was aimed at the moon and came within a thousand miles an hour of getting its rocket beyond the earth's gravitational pull.

It was not as good as the Air Force shot at the same target, but both were better than the Navy shot. It is the current consensus that the marksmen must be given more credit for trying than censure for not scoring a bullseye.

These are busy times in the celestial shootin' gallery in Florida, and soon there will be another gallery opened up in California, to take care of the overflow.

It is all being done in the name of science, of course, which makes it worthwhile, in exactly the same way that nuclear blasts are worthwhile because they are in the pursuit of scientific knowledge.

However, when other rocketeers and blasters pursue science, there always is a question about the purity of their motives.

It is a good deal like the way it was on the Fourth of July, before restraint was imposed on the "scientists" who used to probe the possibilities of the crude fireworks of an earlier day.

The rockets you zoomed into the neighbor's yards and the cannon crackers with which you woke the dead were always in a worthy cause. But when the other fellow did the same thing he was jeopardizing life, limb and property.

It all turned out for the best, though, because it was in pursuit of the definitive weapon and the perfect trajectory. There was a common scientific basis, even though it was not so well understood then as the pursuit of knowledge is understood now.

Knowledge for knowledge's sake has come a long way. The only limit now is the taxpayers' resources.

Death Claims A Baseball 'Great'

To every baseball fan old enough to have seen him play, Tris Speaker was the game's greatest center fielder.

He did not have the long-range hitting power of Joe DiMaggio or the speed afoot of Willie Mays or the switch-hitting skill of Mickey Mantle. But "Spoke" was an all-around combination of everything that makes up a good center fielder.

There never was a center fielder who covered more ground than Speaker. He played closer to the infield than any, where he could charge in and make an out of what would have been a Texas Leaguer against any other fielder. He could turn his back at the crack of the bat, race back toward the fence and pull down a long fly. He could throw, with that sure left arm of his, a strike any time he needed to cut off a runner at the plate.

He hit consistently well, had a lifetime major league batting average of .344 and got his share of extra-base hits in the days before the rabbit ball. He was a leading base stealer, his spikes flashing along the paths at a rate much faster than his stocky build would seem capable of carrying him. He was a clever bunter and could wait out a base on balls with the most keen-eyed.

Speaker was the Boston Red Sox' star center fielder when they won American League pennants in 1912 and 1915. With Duffy Lewis in left and Harry Hooper in right, he completed the flashiest trio that ever patrolled the outfield at tricky Fenway Park.

In 1919 he went to Cleveland as playing manager and the next year, still playing, he led the Indians to their first pennant.

After his playing days ended in the mid-'30s, prematurely gray-haired to earn the nickname "the Gray Eagle," Speaker remained active in baseball. He continued to serve the Indians as a scout and adviser and had prepared to go to the Tribe's spring training camp in Arizona again next February.

He was a sportsman through and through. Death, at 70, took him during a typical activity — at the conclusion of a fishing trip in his beloved native Texas.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

White-haired grandmother type who robbed New York bank is nothing new, says Shrewsbury Holmes, distant cousin of Sherlock, who says there was a famous grandmother, Matilda ("Two Gun") Swivelhead, whose hobby was bank robbing and who made mockery of idea all grannys were kindly.

She would slug anybody who called her "sweet." She hated crinoline, wouldn't have a rocking chair in the house, blew her stack at pictures of Whistler's Mother and always said Mona Lisa was a female cop. She was never captured until the age of 80 and then it had to be done by the Marines.

GRANNY SWIVELHEAD regarded grandmothers who shoved notes into cashiers' windows as softies, lacking color and a sense of drama. She carried two guns, and didn't specialize in the window routine. Her specialty was casing a bank, wearing a Mother Hubbard outfit, getting there in the early morning and tying up all hands.

She knitted her own rope and after tying up each bank official she added a bow of colored ribbons while she hummed "Mother Machree."

This reflected a trace of the grandmother spirit, as did the fact she generally passed out ginger cookies to the bank staff and said, "If I'd known this would of come off so easy, I would have baked a cake."

She was a cop hater and liked to steal squad cars. She wouldn't steal one unless the police were in them at the time.

IF ANYBODY put up a fight on one of granny's bank jobs she would say "Shame on you. I'm old enough to be your grandmother." She would have scorned the tactic of the old woman who told the New York bank clerk she had a glass full of acid ready to throw.

If for some reason her guns weren't in shape she would make her own dynamite stick, walk up to a bank window and start drumming on the ledge with it.

She could be a terror but was versatile and would sometimes say "Hand over the dough, but don't be scared, "I'm just an old lady who wouldn't hurt an armored truck."

"Whatever made a grandmother turn out that way?" we asked Shrewsberry Holmes.

"She was disappointed in love. None of the James boys would marry her," he said.

We have been in two world wars and what did we get out of them? Answer: The hula hoop and the zipper.

U. S. Army is experimenting with a war gas which puts armies to sleep. In this age of frightfully lethal weapons this could be a break for civilization. Enemy just gently put into slumberland. In case they use it also victory goes to side which wakes up first and rushes in men by jet plane to disarm losers.

Major League baseball owners reply to baseball players' demand for bigger cut seems to be, "The trouble is that all you boys think of is money, while we think only of sport."

Will Harridge has resigned after 28 years as head of American League because he has reached 72 and thinks job needs a younger man. A major league chief has so many problems today that he should quit the minute he feels he has lost his speed.

A Problem He'll Have To Iron Out

Millions Don't Grow On Trees

By Victor Riesel

With the touch of the poseur and the gesture of the austere, Jim Hoffa and his high command are now meeting in last year's hotel—Miami Beach's Eden Roc. It isn't that the Teamsters are running out of cash. It's that that they are running their giant union at a deficit.

Victor Riesel

If it weren't for the interest from some 34 million dollars in long term securities, Jim Hoffa would have the woes of any businessman. He'd have to dig into capital.

At the last count Hoffa's union was spending about half a million dollars more than it was taking in.

This is the high cost of living aggressively. Few have noted it. But in order to keep the reputation inside labor circles of being the willing banker of smaller unions and of being the one union which has continued to add members, the Teamsters are spending at the rate of some eight million dollars a year.

Few have been in his counting house, but based on what year end figures are available, Hoffa and his colleagues have spent some four million for organizing and strikes. This includes "donations to allied organizations" and "subordinate" ones, too.

There is little data on the dollars spent in the terrific public relations counter-offensive of the Teamsers — the cost of chartered planes and scores of halls for defense rallies, their heavy political contributions and the financing of their intricate publicity set-up.

AT MID-YEAR however, national union books disclosed that $29,282.01 was spent for "public relations."

Naturally much of this went to offset, if possible, the public's reaction to the exposures of the McClellan committee.

What added insult to this inquiry, as far as the Teamster leadership is concerned, is the high cost of legal defense since Hoffa took office. In the first six months of this year the union spent some $213,717.86 on their lawyers, court appearances and appeals.

It is, of course, startling to think of the giant 4-million dollar Teamster Union operating in the red—but its total operating income runs to some 7½ million dollars annually.

That's a giant figure — but even that doesn't go far in the kind of whirlwind spending compelled by Hoffa's strategy.

Believe it or not, Hoffa's union stays out of the red because of the financial wizardry of its old chief, one Dave Beck. He put millions of union dollars in veterans' housing and some choice securities.

Today this brings the Teamsters well over $1,200,000 a year in interest. When the Teamsters run out of dues money and assessments they merely use the interest payments on all the "paper" old Beck stocked up.

BUT EVEN THIS may not help. The Teamsters fight appears to be just beginning. Before Hoffa can swing into the clear, he must get the monitors off his back.

At this moment it seems that only the U.S. Supreme Court can do that—if it so decides. And it will have to decide.

There are now two conflicting opinions on the legality and powers of the Teamster court - appointed monitors. Federal Judge James Connell in Cleveland has ruled that the three-man board of guardians has only advisory powers.

At this moment, Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts, the man who appointed the monitors, is writing an opinion which Washington legal circles believe will either give the monitors more power and postpone the scheduled Teamster convention or actually remove James R. Hoffa from his "provisional presidency.

Where there is a clash of opinion between two federal judges, the case goes first to the Court of Appeals and finally to the Supreme Court. This may take a year, perhaps more.

In the meanwhile, the Teamsters will have to pay heavy legal fees, the cost of the monitors and special national audits and the price of a continued counteroffensive.

This latter will include organizing and pay hike drives needed to maintain the kind of militant unionism Hoffa is planning right now at his Miami Beach Executive Board sessions.

Millions don't grow on trees, not even for Jim Hoffa.

Moderate In Their Views

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A look at the record indicates Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, won't have such a tough time as might be expected next year in keeping a check-rein on the newly elected Senate Democrats.

There are 15 of them. Not one of them can be called wild-eyed. Almost all are moderate in their views. A majority of them—eight of the 15—were members of the House this year or in the recent past.

In the House they worked pretty quietly under the leadership of Speaker Sam Rayburn, boss of the House Democrats. Rayburn, like Johnson is a Texan. Both men are moderates, are close friends, work closely together.

So, for a majority of the 15 new Senate Democrats, moving from the House is like exchanging Rayburn for Johnson.

The three Republicans who won Senate seats this year for the first time were all members of the House this year. They are Kenneth Keating, New York; Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania; and Winston L. Prouty, Vermont.

Johnson, who recently outlined a 12-point program for the Senate in 1959, omitted any mention of action on civil rights. On this point he may have trouble with some of the new men.

They may gang up with the present band of liberals in the Senate — like Democrats Paul Douglas (Ill) and Hubert Humphrey (Minn), and Republicans Jacob Javits (NY) and Clifford Case (NJ)—to smash the present Senate rule on filibusters.

Under the present rule Southern Democrats can pretty well block legislation on civil rights, if they want to, with unlimited debate. Changing the rule to make it easier to cut off filibusters would also make it easier to get civil rights bills through.

Four of the new Democratic Senators were members of the House this year. They are:

Clair Engle of California; Eugene McCarthy, Minnesota; Robert C. Byrd, West Virginia; and E. L. Bartlett, who had for years been Alaska's delegate to the House, without a vote.

These four were House members in past years:

Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut; Harrison A. Williams Jr., New Jersey; Stephen M. Young, Ohio; and Jennings Randolph, West Virginia. The three new Republican Senators — Keating, Scott and Prouty—were House members this year.

A newsman whose job is covering the House—he's been doing it for years—puts this tag on the views of the eight former Democratic members of the House and the two Republicans who were House members:

Engle—moderate to liberal; McCarthy — moderate to liberal; Byrd—liberal; Bartlett — moderate; Dodd—moderate to liberal; Williams — liberal; Young — moderate; Randolph — moderate.

This same newsman, after watching the performance of the House members day after day from away back in the 1940s, describes both Keating and Scott as moderate to liberal. Prouty is from the very conservative Vermont.

No one around here is running for a bombshelter, either, at the thought of what may happen when these other new Democratic Senators—none of whom served in the House—come here to take their seats in January:

Mayor Vance Hartke of Evansville, Ind., who calls himself a middle-of-the-road Democrat; Edmund S. Muskie, twice Democratic governor of highly conservative Maine; or—

Michigan's Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart; Howard Cannon, city attorney of Las Vegas, Nev.; Frank Moss, county attorney of Utah's Salt Lake County; Gale McGee, history professor of Wyoming; and Ernest Gruening, former Alaska governor who wants to avoid being labeled either a liberal or conservative.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Salvation Army's kettles started to "boil" on the street corners in the business district in fund collections for the district's needy.

Approximately 100 former and present members of East Liverpool Lodge 379 attended a "get-together" meeting at the Odd Fellows Temple.

Pfc. Richard A. Ball, 18, son of Mrs. Rose Ball of Cadmus St., reported to Keesler Field, Miss., to begin 28 weeks training.

Members of the Gertrude Kirby Circle of the First Methodist Church completed plans to pack Christmas boxes for orphanages in Cleveland, Cincinnati and Olive Hill, Ky.

There are probably more than 800 places in the United States where breeding of thoroughbred horses is a business. It is estimated by some that more than $100 million is the investment in these breeding places, while others place the total at more than $150 million for stallions, brood mares, land, and buildings.

Ike's Next Two Years

By David Lawrence

What Should He Do? What Will He Do?

The next two years for Ike—what will they be like? What ought he to do, and what will he do?

This is the subject uppermost in the minds of many people in Washington. It is important to the Republican party, to the country as a whole and to the world.

David Lawrence

President Eisenhower is the last person anyone would call a politician, and it has often been said that he has no taste for politics. Both statements can be right and yet it is conceivable that in his way Mr. Eisenhower could achieve real success on the political front.

For, while the word "politics" connotes a game or a contest between parties and persons in governmental life, it has a broader meaning—the capacity to understand the mood of the people.

The key to leadership in the next two years, therefore, is in how to deal with the mood of the people.

Obviously, the first step is to make sure just what the national mood really happens to be.

Today the national mood is a composite of a lot of local and individual moods. But there is a common denominator running through all of them. There are gripes galore. There are the irritations and annoyances of the economic world and many worries over the fact that the Communists do not seem to want to let things alone.

There are grievances about high taxes and inequitable taxes.

There are fears about the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar—otherwise called inflation.

THERE IS UNREST as between management and labor and a belief that organized labor will abuse its collective-bargaining power and extort higher and higher wages. This means higher and higher prices and squeeze particularly on the people with fixed incomes.

How then to cure the discontent? For discontent produced the negative reaction that instigated the Democratic party's landslide in the recent elections.

The first and foremost problem in national and international affairs is to fix responsibility. In the recent elections the electorate didn't stop to ask who was in command in both houses of Congress during the last two years—the blame for everything was placed on the Republicans.

This was due to the tactics of the Democrats who assumed no responsibility themselves but constantly fostered the illusion that the president controls the budget, that the president writes the appropriation laws, that the president can increase or decrease spending, that the president can control wages and prices, and that the president can wave a wand and bring prosperity or, by making a mistake, drive the country into a recession.

There is no such thing as responsible government in the parliamentary sense. Mr. Truman had no qualms about fixing responsibility on the Republican Congress which he had on his hands from 1946 to 1948, and he won the presidential election.

In season and out he hammered away at his political opponents and continually characterized the 80th Congress as to "do nothing" Congress.

The last Congress was one of the worst in American history if the criterion is the protection of the national interest against tyranny and autocracy in the courts, and if it be assumed that the preservation of the right of local self-government is any longer important to the people of America.

THE CONGRESS, moreover, encouraged policies of extravagance in the handling of public funds and turned away from constructive measures looking toward ways of using the tax system as an incentive to business expansion.

Meddling by Congress in the conduct of foreign policy was constant so that the world isn't sure today whether partisans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the officials of the Department of State speak for this nation to other nations.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower can wield more power with the people now than ever before if he diagnoses the national mood correctly and keeps up a persistent campaign for measures and policies that he believes are right.

Contentment for the electorate will not come in two years but responsibility for the discontent can be marked out clearly so that in the elections of 1960 and 1962 and 1964 the people may know that, when they vote Democratic or Republican, they are choosing certain policies and certain individuals to carry them out.

If the electorate isn't afraid of a deep recession and a runaway inflation and doesn't care what happens to the dollar, surely one political party ought, through its leadership, to spell out the facts in unmistakeable terms so that, if the debacle does come, the nation can return to the party that continuously preached sound economics.

Basically it's the pocketbook issues that win or lose elections. If Mr. Eisenhower is well advised, he will make an aggressive fight in the next two years to keep the politicians in Congress—who hold the purse strings—from robbing the people of their savings. There is no more important issue.

Letter To The Editor

Your editorial in the Dec. 4 issue of the Review referring to the recent Chicago school fire, entitled, "Never Too Late To Save The Living," shows evidence of an intimate knowledge of the tragedy published in no other news account.

What is the basis for your statement that "the result proved beyond any possibility of reasonable doubt that the building was unsafe for occupancy by school children"? Was this the decision of the Chicago Fire Department?

Suppose you check the number of schools in this area for fire escapes, open stair wells and other supposed hazards. Then check with the fire departments to see if they have been declared safe. The Chicago Fire Department in October declared the school building of Our Lady of the Angels Parish safe.

Your editorial hysterics make as much sense as if you asserted that every plane that crashed was unfit for flight, every car involved in a fatal accident unfit for the road and every ship that sank unseaworthy.

Even with all precautions taken, tragedies will happen. To infer that they are due to human neglect is a rather serious accusation that demands proof. Where are your proofs for the accusations made in this editorial?

Incidentally, the loss of life in the Cleveland Collinwood school fire in 1908, according to a recent statement of a Cleveland fire marshal as reported in a Cleveland newspaper, was not caused by doors that swung inward; the main exit doors actually swung outward. Jammed interior doors caused the children to pile up and suffocate.

REV. WILLIAM J. LAWLER

Editor's Note — We were shocked along with the rest of the nation by the Chicago school fire.

The editorial in question was intended to point out the danger that exists in non-fireproof buildings in the hope that it would stimulate more serious thought in the interest of increased safety.

The editorial stated at one point: "The school building in Our Lady of the Angels parish lacked proper fire escapes. Its internal design was unsafe; it contained an open stair well, which would act as a chimney if fire broke out in the lower part of the building. That is what happened."

As the next paragraph in the editorial demonstrated, there was no malicious attempt to single out the Chicago school for criticism. But it was the scene of disaster and was offered as an object lesson.

The paragraph referred to above read as follows: "There are hundreds of school buildings like this one in the United States. Each is the scene of a potential disaster. There is only one bright spot in a gloomy prospect. School buildings are not being designed like that any more."

Stand Up And Take A Bow, Joe

Though talking about what was learned from the latest recession sounds a little like a fire prevention lecture among the smoldering embers, the topic is getting to be popular.

The recession is not over, but it seems to be receding. It is far enough away to be viewed by hindsight — and a hero already has been named.

He is Joe Doakes, the ordinary consumer. Joe never lost his head. He refused to jump out the window, or step in front of a truck. He had confidence when many politicians and businessmen were on the verge of panic.

What money he had, he spent. He shifted spending emphasis from durable goods to non-durable goods and services so adroitly that the net decrease of total spending was inconsequential. Men like Arthur F. Burns, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, think Joe Doakes deserves a medal.

Thanks to his level-headedness, no downward spiral developed. But the oddity is that the upward spiral — the pattern of inflation —continued. Economists who used to think of the ups and downs of the business cycle are being forced to change their minds. Prices do not fall any more. Wages do not fall. Even spending does not fall appreciably. Everything goes up endlessly. There are no downs—just sidewise motions.

Thanks to consumer confidence and government intervention to maintain dollar turnover, stability has been achieved. Collapse and panic have been averted.

There remains much to be done about unemployment insurance, for example. Government spending, it has been demonstrated, takes too long to show any effect. Tax reduction, in all probability, would have a more stimulating and a much quicker effect.

But the biggest achievement that anyone ever dared to dream of was the creation of enough confidence so the cry of "Wolf!" would not panic ordinary consumers. And that seems to have been done.

Thinking back to some of the wild things said in and out of Congress early this year, when the political dogs were beginning to think of running the voting sheep, one must admit that the Doakes of America had every provocation to go into economic hysterics.

But they stood firm. The sheep ran the dogs, for a change, and thereby made history.

Carrol M. Shanks, president of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, put it like this in a speech early this fall:

"The consumer is the No. 1 consideration in our economic system. The customer may not always be right, but he is always necessary, and there is a limit beyond which he is likely to revolt at the kind of treatment given him by business, labor and the government. We should not forget that if the consumer had revolted in any of the three postwar recessions, we inevitably would have drifted into a full-fledged depression. . . . Remember the consumer and be good to him."

Busy Times In Celestial Shootin' Gallery

That was pretty good shooting at Cape Canaveral, when the Army's rocket was aimed at the moon and came within a thousand miles an hour of getting its rocket beyond the earth's gravitational pull.

It was not as good as the Air Force shot at the same target, but both were better than the Navy shot. It is the current consensus that the marksmen must be given more credit for trying than censure for not scoring a bullseye.

These are busy times in the celestial shootin' gallery in Florida, and soon there will be another gallery opened up in California, to take care of the overflow.

It is all being done in the name of science, of course, which makes it worthwhile, in exactly the same way that nuclear blasts are worthwhile because they are in the pursuit of scientific knowledge.

However, when other rocketeers and blasters pursue science, there always is a question about the purity of their motives.

It is a good deal like the way it was on the Fourth of July, before restraint was imposed on the "scientists" who used to probe the possibilities of the crude fireworks of an earlier day.

The rockets you zoomed into the neighbor's yards and the cannon crackers with which you woke the dead were always in a worthy cause. But when the other fellow did the same thing he was jeopardizing life, limb and property.

It all turned out for the best, though, because it was in pursuit of the definitive weapon and the perfect trajectory. There was a common scientific basis, even though it was not so well understood then as the pursuit of knowledge is understood now.

Knowledge for knowledge's sake has come a long way. The only limit now is the taxpayers' resources.

Death Claims A Baseball 'Great'

To every baseball fan old enough to have seen him play, Tris Speaker was the game's greatest center fielder.

He did not have the long-range hitting power of Joe DiMaggio or the speed afoot of Willie Mays or the switch-hitting skill of Mickey Mantle. But "Spoke" was an all-around combination of everything that makes up a good center fielder.

There never was a center fielder who covered more ground than Speaker. He played closer to the infield than any, where he could charge in and make an out of what would have been a Texas Leaguer against any other fielder. He could turn his back at the crack of the bat, race back toward the fence and pull down a long fly. He could throw, with that sure left arm of his, a strike any time he needed to cut off a runner at the plate.

He hit consistently well, had a lifetime major league batting average of .344 and got his share of extra-base hits in the days before the rabbit ball. He was a leading base stealer, his spikes flashing along the paths at a rate much faster than his stocky build would seem capable of carrying him. He was a clever bunter and could wait out a base on balls with the most keen-eyed.

Speaker was the Boston Red Sox' star center fielder when they won American League pennants in 1912 and 1915. With Duffy Lewis in left and Harry Hooper in right, he completed the flashiest trio that ever patrolled the outfield at tricky Fenway Park.

In 1919 he went to Cleveland as playing manager and the next year, still playing, he led the Indians to their first pennant.

After his playing days ended in the mid-'30s, prematurely gray-haired to earn the nickname "the Gray Eagle," Speaker remained active in baseball. He continued to serve the Indians as a scout and adviser and had prepared to go to the Tribe's spring training camp in Arizona again next February.

He was a sportsman through and through. Death, at 70, took him during a typical activity — at the conclusion of a fishing trip in his beloved native Texas.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

White-haired grandmother type who robbed New York bank is nothing new, says Shrewsbury Holmes, distant cousin of Sherlock, who says there was a famous grandmother, Matilda ("Two Gun") Swivelhead, whose hobby was bank robbing and who made mockery of idea all grannys were kindly.

She would slug anybody who called her "sweet." She hated crinoline, wouldn't have a rocking chair in the house, blew her stack at pictures of Whistler's Mother and always said Mona Lisa was a female cop. She was never captured until the age of 80 and then it had to be done by the Marines.

GRANNY SWIVELHEAD regarded grandmothers who shoved notes into cashiers' windows as softies, lacking color and a sense of drama. She carried two guns, and didn't specialize in the window routine. Her specialty was casing a bank, wearing a Mother Hubbard outfit, getting there in the early morning and tying up all hands.

She knitted her own rope and after tying up each bank official she added a bow of colored ribbons while she hummed "Mother Machree."

This reflected a trace of the grandmother spirit, as did the fact she generally passed out ginger cookies to the bank staff and said, "If I'd known this would of come off so easy, I would have baked a cake."

She was a cop hater and liked to steal squad cars. She wouldn't steal one unless the police were in them at the time.

If for some reason her guns weren't in shape she would make her own dynamite stick, walk up to a bank window and start drumming on the ledge with it.

She could be a terror but was versatile and would sometimes say "Hand over the dough, but don't be scared, "I'm just an old lady who wouldn't hurt an armored truck."

"Whatever made a grandmother turn out that way?" we asked Shrewsberry Holmes.

"She was disappointed in love. None of the James boys would marry her," he said.

A look at the record indicates Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, won't have such a tough time as might be expected next year in keeping a check-rein on the newly elected Senate Democrats.

There are 15 of them. Not one of them can be called wild-eyed. Almost all are moderate in their views. A majority of them—eight of the 15—were members of the House this year or in the recent past.

In the House they worked pretty quietly under the leadership of Speaker Sam Rayburn, boss of the House Democrats. Rayburn, like Johnson is a Texan. Both men are moderates, are close friends, work closely together.

So, for a majority of the 15 new Senate Democrats, moving from the House is like exchanging Rayburn for Johnson.

The three Republicans who won Senate seats this year for the first time were all members of the House this year. They are Kenneth Keating, New York; Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania; and Winston L. Prouty, Vermont.

Johnson, who recently outlined a 12-point program for the Senate in 1959, omitted any mention of action on civil rights. On this point he may have trouble with some of the new men.

They may gang up with the present band of liberals in the Senate — like Democrats Paul Douglas (Ill) and Hubert Humphrey (Minn), and Republicans Jacob Javits (NY) and Clifford Case (NJ)—to smash the present Senate rule on filibusters.

Under the present rule Southern Democrats can pretty well block legislation on civil rights, if they want to, with unlimited debate. Changing the rule to make it easier to cut off filibusters would also make it easier to get civil rights bills through.

Four of the new Democratic Senators were members of the House this year. They are:

Clair Engle of California; Eugene McCarthy, Minnesota; Robert C. Byrd, West Virginia; and E. L. Bartlett, who had for years been Alaska's delegate to the House, without a vote.

These four were House members in past years:

Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut; Harrison A. Williams Jr., New Jersey; Stephen M. Young, Ohio; and Jennings Randolph, West Virginia. The three new Republican Senators — Keating, Scott and Prouty—were House members this year.

A newsman whose job is covering the House—he's been doing it for years—puts this tag on the views of the eight former Democratic members of the House and the two Republicans who were House members:

Engle—moderate to liberal; McCarthy — moderate to liberal; Byrd—liberal; Bartlett — moderate; Dodd—moderate to liberal; Williams — liberal; Young — moderate; Randolph — moderate.

This same newsman, after watching the performance of the House members day after day from away back in the 1940s, describes both Keating and Scott as moderate to liberal. Prouty is from the very conservative Vermont.

No one around here is running for a bombshelter, either, at the thought of what may happen when these other new Democratic Senators—none of whom served in the House—come here to take their seats in January:

Mayor Vance Hartke of Evansville, Ind., who calls himself a middle-of-the-road Democrat; Edmund S. Muskie, twice Democratic governor of highly conservative Maine; or—

Michigan's Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart; Howard Cannon, city attorney of Las Vegas, Nev.; Frank Moss, county attorney of Utah's Salt Lake County; Gale McGee, history professor of Wyoming; and Ernest Gruening, former Alaska governor who wants to avoid being labeled either a liberal or conservative.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Members of the Elks Lodge, American Legion Post 4 and the Salvation Army held special Christmas programs for the district's needy.

Harry B. Keys was elected president of the Kiwanis Club.

Frank G. Jones was master of ceremonies during the "whoopee" program held by Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Salvation Army's kettles started to "boil" on the street corners in the business district in fund collections for the district's needy.

Approximately 100 former and present members of East Liverpool Lodge 379 attended a "get-together" meeting at the Odd Fellows Temple.

TEN YEARS AGO — The second in a series of Civic Music Association concerts was presented at Memorial Auditorium by Giuseppe Valdengo, Metropolitan Opera star.

Pfc. Richard A. Ball, 18, son of Mrs. Rose Ball of Cadmus St., reported to Keesler Field, Miss., to begin 28 weeks training.

Members of the Gertrude Kirby Circle of the First Methodist Church completed plans to pack Christmas boxes for orphanages in Cleveland, Cincinnati and Olive Hill, Ky.

There are probably more than 800 places in the United States where breeding of thoroughbred horses is a business. It is estimated by some that more than $100 million is the investment in these breeding places, while others place the total at more than $150 million for stallions, brood mares, land, and buildings.

Ike's Next Two Years

By David Lawrence

What Should He Do? What Will He Do?

The next two years for Ike—what will they be like? What ought he to do, and what will he do?

This is the subject uppermost in the minds of many people in Washington. It is important to the Republican party, to the country as a whole and to the world.

David Lawrence

President Eisenhower is the last person anyone would call a politician, and it has often been said that he has no taste for politics. Both statements can be right and yet it is conceivable that in his way Mr. Eisenhower could achieve real success on the political front.

For, while the word "politics" connotes a game or a contest between parties and persons in governmental life, it has a broader meaning—the capacity to understand the mood of the people.

The key to leadership in the next two years, therefore, is in how to deal with the mood of the people.

Obviously, the first step is to make sure just what the national mood really happens to be.

Today the national mood is a composite of a lot of local and individual moods. But there is a common denominator running through all of them. There are gripes galore. There are the irritations and annoyances of the economic world and many worries over the fact that the Communists do not seem to want to let things alone.

There are grievances about high taxes and inequitable taxes.

There are fears about the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar—otherwise called inflation.

THERE IS UNREST as between management and labor and a belief that organized labor will abuse its collective-bargaining power and extort higher and higher wages. This means higher and higher prices and squeeze particularly on the people with fixed incomes.

How then to cure the discontent? For discontent produced the negative reaction that instigated the Democratic party's landslide in the recent elections.

The first and foremost problem in national and international affairs is to fix responsibility. In the recent elections the electorate didn't stop to ask who was in command in both houses of Congress during the last two years—the blame for everything was placed on the Republicans.

This was due to the tactics of the Democrats who assumed no responsibility themselves but constantly fostered the illusion that the president controls the budget, that the president writes the appropriation laws, that the president can increase or decrease spending, that the president can control wages and prices, and that the president can wave a wand and bring prosperity or, by making a mistake, drive the country into a recession.

There is no such thing as responsible government in the parliamentary sense. Mr. Truman had no qualms about fixing responsibility on the Republican Congress which he had on his hands from 1946 to 1948, and he won the presidential election.

In season and out he hammered away at his political opponents and continually characterized the 80th Congress as to "do nothing" Congress.

The last Congress was one of the worst in American history if the criterion is the protection of the national interest against tyranny and autocracy in the courts, and if it be assumed that the preservation of the right of local self-government is any longer important to the people of America.

THE CONGRESS, moreover, encouraged policies of extravagance in the handling of public funds and turned away from constructive measures looking toward ways of using the tax system as an incentive to business expansion.

Meddling by Congress in the conduct of foreign policy was constant so that the world isn't sure today whether partisans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the officials of the Department of State speak for this nation to other nations.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower can wield more power with the people now than ever before if he diagnoses the national mood correctly and keeps up a persistent campaign for measures and policies that he believes are right.

Contentment for the electorate will not come in two years but responsibility for the discontent can be marked out clearly so that in the elections of 1960 and 1962 and 1964 the people may know that, when they vote Democratic or Republican, they are choosing certain policies and certain individuals to carry them out.

If the electorate isn't afraid of a deep recession and a runaway inflation and doesn't care what happens to the dollar, surely one political party ought, through its leadership, to spell out the facts in unmistakeable terms so that, if the debacle does come, the nation can return to the party that continuously preached sound economics.

Basically it's the pocketbook issues that win or lose elections. If Mr. Eisenhower is well advised, he will make an aggressive fight in the next two years to keep the politicians in Congress—who hold the purse strings—from robbing the people of their savings. There is no more important issue.

Letter To The Editor

Your editorial in the Dec. 4 issue of the Review referring to the recent Chicago school fire, entitled, "Never Too Late To Save The Living," shows evidence of an intimate knowledge of the tragedy published in no other news account.

What is the basis for your statement that "the result proved beyond any possibility of reasonable doubt that the building was unsafe for occupancy by school children"? Was this the decision of the Chicago Fire Department?

Suppose you check the number of schools in this area for fire escapes, open stair wells and other supposed hazards. Then check with the fire departments to see if they have been declared safe. The Chicago Fire Department in October declared the school building of Our Lady of the Angels Parish safe.

Your editorial hysterics make as much sense as if you asserted that every plane that crashed was unfit for flight, every car involved in a fatal accident unfit for the road and every ship that sank unseaworthy.

Even with all precautions taken, tragedies will happen. To infer that they are due to human neglect is a rather serious accusation that demands proof. Where are your proofs for the accusations made in this editorial?

Incidentally, the loss of life in the Cleveland Collinwood school fire in 1908, according to a recent statement of a Cleveland fire marshal as reported in a Cleveland newspaper, was not caused by doors that swung inward; the main exit doors actually swung outward. Jammed interior doors caused the children to pile up and suffocate.

REV. WILLIAM J. LAWLER
IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH
WELLSVILLE

Editor's Note — We were shocked along with the rest of the nation by the Chicago school fire.

The editorial in question was intended to point out the danger that exists in non-fireproof buildings in the hope that it would stimulate more serious thought in the interest of increased safety.

The editorial stated at one point: "The school building in Our Lady of the Angels parish lacked proper fire escapes. Its internal design was unsafe; it contained an open stair well, which would act as a chimney if fire broke out in the lower part of the building. That is what happened."

As the next paragraph in the editorial demonstrated, there was no malicious attempt to single out the Chicago school for criticism. But it was the scene of disaster and was offered as an object lesson.

The paragraph referred to above read as follows: "There are hundreds of school buildings like this one in the United States. Each is the scene of a potential disaster. There is only one bright spot in a gloomy prospect. School buildings are not being designed like that any more."

Weather

of snow generally over the state Friday or Saturday.

Heavy squalls were predicted for Ashtabula, Lake and northern Geauga Counties.

County schools were able to stay in session, despite the heating problem, although several Beaver Local School buses were delayed by freezing on their morning trips.

County School Supt. James L. McBride's office at Lisbon said only one rural building failed to open, and that was due to bus trouble rather than heating. The Franklin School at Summitville was closed because of a freezeup of buses.

Householders stoked furnaces and plumbers had numerous calls to thaw frozen pipes. Coal dealers had a rush of orders.

The Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. said the gas supply is "very good." A few low - pressure areas were reported during the night but the supply to these was increased.

The severe cold wave caused the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. to announce Tuesday that it will cut off gas to 28 major industrial users in the Queen City area, so that ample fuel will be available for home use.

More gas suppliers are expected to follow suit.

The cold started a rush on service stations as dozens of motorists found their cars frozen when they started for work this morning and steaming radiators were a common sight.

Highway conditions, meanwhile, had improved as cindering crews finished work on the remaining stretches of roads left slippery by the weekend snow.

Season's Longest Cold Spell Grips East U.S.

By The Associated Press

The season's longest spell of cold weather tightened its icy grip on the eastern half of the nation today.

There was one warm, welcome note in the weather forecast: Some relief appeared in sight for the zero-stricken areas of the northern Midwest and North Central region.

But the Arctic air clung to the Midwest as it spread eastward to the Atlantic Coast and sent a mass of frosty air deep into the southland.

It was another shivering morning of below zero weather from northeastern Montana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and into sections of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Cold wave conditions made winter seem like reality in the East from New England to West Virgina with zero and below readings in some areas.

It was freezing in the South from Georgia to central Texas and some nippy air drifted south as far as northwest Florida.

Although there were some snow flurries, not much heavy snow was reported in the cold belt. However, there were copious amounts of snow throughout the entire region. Hardest hit by the snow were Oswego and Mayville, N.Y., with nearly five feet of white blanketing the areas.

Nearly a foot of fresh snow fell Tuesday in storm-stricken Oswego as weary crews of workers labored to clear the snow-clogged streets. A state of emergency has been declared in the Lake Ontario city of 23,000 population.

In the below-zero Midwest areas, one of the early morning's lowest readings was 26 degrees below at International Falls, Minn. That was warmer than Tuesday's -31 and Monday's -32.

But the weather bureau said it was 10 to 20 degrees warmer than 24 hours earlier in sections of the Dakotas, eastern Minnesota, Iowa and Montana.

Skies were generally fair with little or no temperature change from the Rockies westward to the Pacific Coast. However, light rain fell along the Washington-Oregon coast, with some showers and snow flurries in interior sections.

Salvation Army Clearing Center For 'Needy' Gifts

The Salvation Army announced today it will serve again this year as a "central Christmas exchange" agency to clear names of needy families for all organizations distributing Yule baskets.

The service is designed primarily to avoid duplication of gifts to a single family from several organizations and to guard against cases in which one family might receive aid from a number of groups while another family went without assistance, the Army explained.

The Army checks the names of holiday aid recipients with city and county welfare authorities and its own records. It undertook the same project last year to assure an equitable spread of holiday cheer from charitable efforts. The clearances cover families requiring clothing, fuel or toys in addition to holiday food.

The Army also furnishes names to church groups or others seeking a worthy family that needs aid. The Army said persons or organizations wishing to clear a case may telephone FU 5-1339.

Break

Water from the break streamed down the hillside onto Dresden Ave. and then froze, shutting off traffic completely for a time. Street department workers spread two truck loads of ashes on the ice and police were sent to the scene to help direct traffic.

Firemen supplied the excavating crew with a portable electric light plant, powered by a gasoline-driven engine. The firemen also took drinking water to the Nentwick Convalescent Home on Lisbon St., Pleasant Heights.

The Lisbon St. Hill area is not affected by the break, as it is supplied by another main that feeds out of the high service reservoir, Duke explained.

The water department said it received a "literal flood" of telephone calls about the break. The police department also was swamped with calls.

The main is a so - called high pressure line that maintains 250-275 pounds pressure to the square inch. Duke explained that the department has some replacement valves in stock that are the right size and type, but they are not built to withstand high pressures. As a result, they would probably fail shortly after they were installed in the high pressure line, he said.

Originally, the department expected to restore service late this morning, but when it learned today that the valve would have to be replaced and that the new part would have to come from Leetsdale, the "target" time for completion of repair was moved back.

Trentvale St. is a narrow, unsurfaced stretch that intersects Dresden Ave. at right angles near the Robert Schmidt grocery and service station and at the point where Dresden Ave. and Dresden Ave. Ext. separate.

The halt in service in Pleasant Heights and outer California Hollow resulted directly from the break. The service in part of Gardendale was interrupted when a valve was turned off to clear the way for the repairs.

Now that the break is uncovered and while the crew waits for the arrival of the new part, the line and excavation are being "dried out" to speed installation of the new valve, Duke said.

He said it is the first major break in the distribution system in many years.

"We were lucky to discover it so quickly and get the water turned off a short time after the break," Duke commented. He took over supervision of the work because of the illness of Supt. Frank K. Robinson.

The break actually affects only about 15 per cent of the city's water consumers.

The department has approximately 7,400 customers, so 1,000 would represent less than one seventh of the total.

Much of the affected Pleasant Heights area is outside the city limits. The city water main extends beyond the corporate line a distance of approximately a mile — close to the Westfield Rd. in Liverpool Township — about midway between LaCroft and Glenmoor.

6 Are Killed As Plane Rips Into 2 Homes

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A crippled Navy tanker plane loaded with tons of fuel went out of control just short of its home airstrip here Tuesday and plowed with a flaming roar through two homes. The four crewmen and two infants in one of the homes perished.

The twin-engine North American AJ2, just seconds away from the runway at the Norfolk Naval Air Station, clipped tree tops and the roof of a house and sheared through a trailer truck before it smashed into the two homes.

The Navy said preliminary investigation indicated the pilot tried to wreck in a swamp near the two homes.

James H. Miller, who works at the air station, said:

"I saw the plane when it was at least a half a mile away. At that time it was between 150 and 250 feet high and making a normal approach...I noticed as it came closer that the degree of bank of the wings became greater.

"Before the degree reached 90 degrees, I knew a crash was imminent. The plane was not smoking and the engine didn't sputter."

One of the two homes smashed by the plane was unoccupied. In the other were Mrs. Joseph E. Tondora, wife of a Navy lieutenant, and two children, Joseph Jr., 14 months, and Michalene, two weeks old. Barbara, 10, was in school.

Rig's Driver Hurt Slightly When It Flips

A tractor-trailer driver escaped with minor injuries when his cab was crushed by a load of coil steel after the rig overturned on Route 7, about a mile north of the junction with Route 14, Tuesday night at 7:20.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Joseph J. Monroe, 28, of Rayland, the driver, received bruises and abrasions of the hands and nose. He was taken to Salem City Hospital.

Monroe drove his truck off the right side of the highway to avoid crashing into the rear of a line of halted traffic, officers said. The truck overturned, causing a load of coil steel to roll onto the cab.

Monroe was cited for unsafe operation.

In a minor accident yesterday at 12:50 p. m., a truck driven by David Pearlman, 62, of Pittsburgh and a car driven by Frank Rockwell, 67, of Carmichaels, Pa., collided on a curve on Route 7 about five and a half miles south of Rogers.

Napoleon used 60 bottles of eau de cologne each month — even when he was on the battlefield.

Stratofortress Crash Believed Fatal To 8

ALTUS, Okla. (AP)—A Strategic Air Command Stratofortress trailing flame crashed six miles north of here early today. One of the nine crewmen survived.

Bodies of three crewmen were found in the wreckage in an open field.

The eight-jet bomber was on a training mission from Altus Air Force Base.

The survivor was Maj. Byard F. Baker, commander of the aircraft. He parachuted. He was found unconscious and taken to the base hospital. Baker's hometown is Azle, Tex.

The SAC base is in southwestern Oklahoma 14 miles from the Texas border.

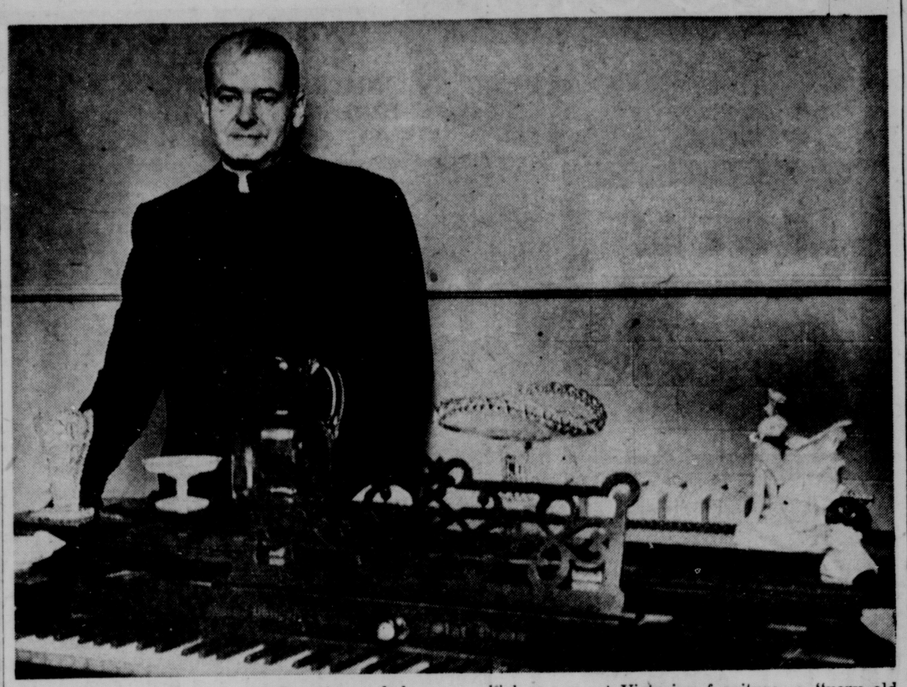
For Parochial School Benefit

Auction Will Feature Choice Items



Some prized antiques, including several small pieces of Lotus ware and a pre-Civil War rosewood melodeon, will be among the items offered for sale at an auction Thursday night at 7 to aid the St. Aloysius School building fund.

Fr. Robert G. Moorhead, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, is pictured above with the melodeon — which came from his own collection — and some of the smaller articles that will be offered in the sale in the McNicol Auditorium of the new school.

The contributions from parishoners include many other "nicer, older things" that an antique collector would cherish, Fr. Moorhead said. There is some antique Victorian furniture, a "very old and very good" cranberry glass water pitcher, some pieces of old silver, several small pieces of Lotus ware and a "Gone With the Wind Lamp," the pastor said.

Donation of articles for sale has grown rapidly in the last few days, as parishoners respond to the appeal for items that are antiques or still are useable and have intrinsic value, Fr. Moorhead said. The auction is another in a series of benefits to help defray the debt on the new school.

Bridge Painting, Road Project Bid

The Joe Tarbuck Co. of Midland was the apparent low bidder, $4,160, for painting five highway bridges in Columbiana, Holmes and Tuscarwas Counties, the state Highway Department said Tuesday at Columbus.

Three are in Columbiana County — on Route 154 on the North Fork of Little Beaver Creek, and Routes 30 and 45 on the West Fork. The state estimate was $5,880.

The department also took bids on another link in converting Route 7 to four lanes. This section, in Monroe County, was estimated at $1,704,500 and low bidder was $1,355,678 by Sutton & Stewart, Inc., and Hatcher Brothers Co. of Bridgeport. The project is north of Route 536 to Litman Run and just south of Sunfish Creek to Clarington.

The department opened bids for a total cost of $35 million for 18 projects of 29 miles of new construction and nearly 9 miles of resurfacing.

Miss Howell said for movies she will use Arlene instead of Eurlyne.

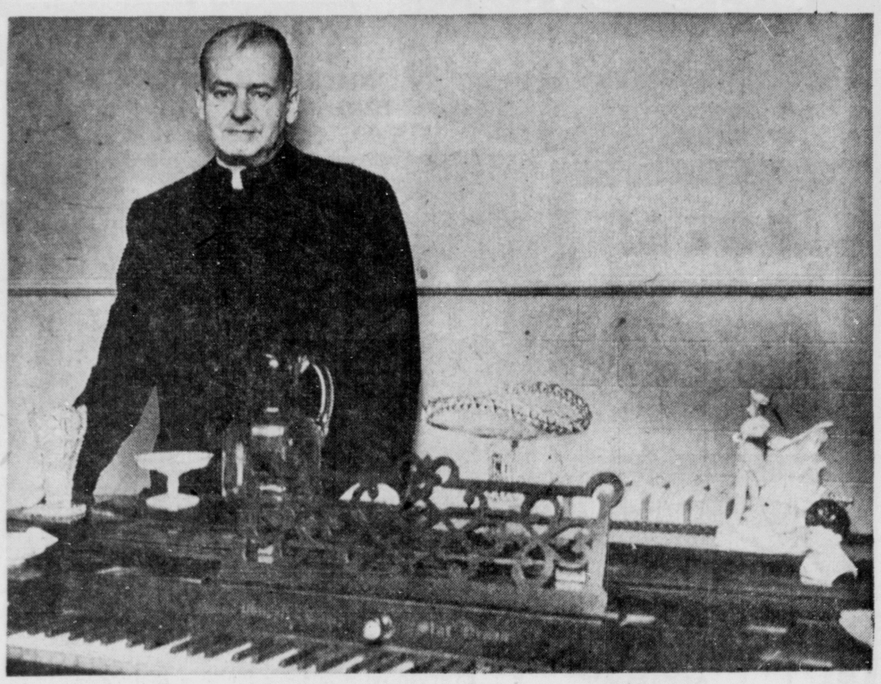
For Parochial School Benefit

Auction Will Feature Choice Items



Some prized antiques, including several small pieces of Lotus ware and a pre-Civil War rosewood melodeon, will be among the items offered for sale at an auction Thursday night at 7 to aid the St. Aloysius School building fund.

Fr. Robert G. Moorhead, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, is pictured above with the melodeon — which came from his own collection — and some of the smaller articles that will be offered in the sale in the McNicol Auditorium of the new school.

The contributions from parishoners include many other "nicer, older things" that an antique collector would cherish, Fr. Moorhead said. There is some antique Victorian furniture, a "very old and very good" cranberry glass water pitcher, some pieces of old silver, several small pieces of Lotus ware and a "Gone With the Wind Lamp," the pastor said.

Donation of articles for sale has grown rapidly in the last few days, as parishoners respond to the appeal for items that are antiques or still are useable and have intrinsic value, Fr. Moorhead said. The auction is another in a series of benefits to help defray the debt on the new school.

Missionary In India To Speak Here Tonight

The Rev. Carl Maltz, a missionary on leave from India, will speak at the service tonight at 7:30 at the Assembly of God Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Maltz and children have been supported in their work by the church.

The public is invited, according to the Rev. John E. Horn, pastor.

Bridge Painting, Road Project Bid

The Joe Tarbuck Co. of Midland was the apparent low bidder, $4,160, for painting five highway bridges in Columbiana, Holmes and Tuscarwas Counties, the state Highway Department said Tuesday at Columbus.

Three are in Columbiana County — on Route 154 on the North Fork of Little Beaver Creek, and Routes 30 and 45 on the West Fork. The state estimate was $5,880.

The department also took bids on another link in converting Route 7 to four lanes. This section, in Monroe County, was estimated at $1,704,500 and low bidder was $1,355,678 by Sutton & Stewart, Inc., and Hatcher Brothers Co. of Bridgeport. The project is north of Route 536 to Litman Run and just south of Sunfish Creek to Clarington.

The department opened bids for a total cost of $35 million for 18 projects of 29 miles of new construction and nearly 9 miles of resurfacing.

Miss Howell said for movies she will use Arlene instead of Eurlyne.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Professor Szpilki and his daughter swear they did not write the note calling for help that Esteban found. But as Esteban leaves he sees a look of terror in the girl's eyes. He feels she is telling him to come back.)

CHAPTER SIX

When the castle door shut Esteban didn't know what to do. Did the professor's little girl really want him to come back? Or was it all just his imagination?

"How could she be afraid of her father?" he asked himself. "He is so pleasant and kind. I must stop being such a fool or the Queen Fairy will never give me back my wings and I shall never be an elf again."

But halfway down the hill he remembered again the terror in Charlotte's eyes.

"It's no use," he moaned. "I cannot go away until I see her again."

HE TURNED back. The wind howled and sent shivers down his back. He stood in the storm watching the castle until the lights disappeared downstairs and then shone again, one in a second floor window and one in a third floor window.

"Which window is hers?" wondered Esteban.

By and by both lights went out and still Esteban could not decide which room belonged to Charlotte. Finally he pulled the little blue bird from his shirt and said, "Blue bird, blue bird, fly, if you can, to the right window."

The blue bird fluttered her wings in the rain and flew away. Esteban could see nothing but presently he heard above the wind the sound of the bird pecking at a window.

Suddenly the light appeared again on the third floor. The window was thrown open and Charlotte's head appeared. Esteban rushed forward and grasping the vines of ivy which covered the castle he pulled himself up hand over hand until he reached the girl's room.

The little blue bird followed him into the room and Esteban put her back inside his shirt.

Charlotte was crying. "If you hadn't come back I don't know what I would have done. There's so little time left and it's almost Christmas and just think, if. . ."

"Wait!" cried Esteban. "You're going much too fast for me. First of all — did you write the note I found in the slipper?"

—:—

CHARLOTTE clasped her hands. "Oh, yes! And you, you do believe in fairies, don't you?"

"I should say so!" exclaimed Esteban. "You see, I'm an elf really. I mean I was." And he told her the story of how he had lost his wings.

"Then you'll understand how awful this is," cried Charlotte. "There has been absolutely no one I could turn to because so many people don't believe in fairies or don't care, or think I'm out of my head and, oh, I just don't know what we can do!"

Esteban threw himself in a chair. "Begin at the beginning and tell me the whole story."

"I'm telling you!" cried Charlotte. "My father is going to get rid of every fairy on earth!"

Esteban leaped to his feet. "What?"

"My father has made a powerful gas. He is going to release it on Christmas Day and destroy all fairies. That means there will be no more Santa Claus or tooth fairies or goblins or witches or Queen Fairy or, or . . ."

"Or maybe even me!" cried Esteban in horror.

Palestine Light Plant Sets Production Mark

EAST PALESTINE — The municipal light plant produced 72,000 kilowatt hours, an all-time record, during a 24-hour period Monday.

The previous high was 64,000. The increase in usage was attributed to cold weather, Monday washing and ironing, the darkness during the daylight hours, the increased industrial load, stores open at night and the increased usage of electrical appliances.

The usage for Dec. 8, 1928 was 7,000, on Dec. 8, 1938 it was 12,000 and Dec. 8, 1948 was 47,000.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Professor Szpilki and his daughter swear they did not write the note calling for help that Esteban found. But as Esteban leaves he sees a look of terror in the girl's eyes. He feels she is telling him to come back.)

CHAPTER SIX

When the castle door shut Esteban didn't know what to do. Did the professor's little girl really want him to come back? Or was it all just his imagination?

"How could she be afraid of her father?" he asked himself. "He is so pleasant and kind. I must stop being such a fool or the Queen Fairy will never give me back my wings and I shall never be an elf again."

But halfway down the hill he remembered again the terror in Charlotte's eyes.

"It's no use," he moaned. "I cannot go away until I see her again."

—:—

HE TURNED back. The wind howled and sent shivers down his back. He stood in the storm watching the castle until the lights disappeared downstairs and then shone again, one in a second floor window and one in a third floor window.

"Which window is hers?" wondered Esteban.

By and by both lights went out and still Esteban could not decide which room belonged to Charlotte. Finally he pulled the little blue bird from his shirt and said, "Blue bird, blue bird, fly, if you can, to the right window."

The blue bird fluttered her wings in the rain and flew away. Esteban could see nothing but presently he heard above the wind the sound of the bird pecking at a window.

Suddenly the light appeared again on the third floor. The window was thrown open and Charlotte's head appeared. Esteban rushed forward and grasping the vines of ivy which covered the latent print was partially superimposed on another print impression on the wall. The print expert also said the core or center of the latent print pattern is not clearly defined.

Defense Opens For Stuttler

State's Fingerprint Evidence Is Attacked

Referring to the smudged nature of the latent print, he said, "It isn't a perfect print, but I've seen worse that were used for identification."

To a layman, some of the characteristics of forked ridges and divergent lines of Stuttler's print were not easily traceable on the latent impression.

"Are these prints identical?" Chertoff asked. Fetter said, "They are not identical in makeup because one is fresh and in ink while the other is older and made in dirt by sweat, but they have characteristics which are identical in pattern, and I am of the opinion they are the same print."

"How many points of similarity do you require to have enough belief of identification to go into court?" Chertoff asked. Fetter explained there was no set minimum for such evidence — "Some authorities say you can't go wrong on 12 points, some say it is possible to establish identification with as little as 3 points."

Fetter also related the various conditions on which the lasting strength of a print impression would depend. He said atmospheric conditions, time, protection from the elements, friction against the surface, the type of surface and the original degree of impression were key factors in the legibility of a print.

"Would you say a print will last four years?" Fetter replied, "Apparently so." Chertoff asked, "Isn't that contrary to what you have been taught and what is in the print manual of the Federal Bureau of Investigation?" "I don't believe so."

The defense counsel asked, "Weren't you surprised at finding a print in the store after four years?" Fetter answered, "Not after seeing them."

Earlier Brokaw asked Fetter if he had obtained any other legible prints at the store. Fetter said a partial palm print had been found. It had not been identified, he said, adding there were no available records of Stuttler's palm print.

When Chertoff began his cross-examination in the afternoon, he asked Fetter if he could make a comparison of the palm print with a print of Stuttler. "Yes," the expert answered.

Later Chertoff said to Fetter, "I would like to give you Mr. Stuttler's palm print to compare with the latent print in an attempt to identify."

Brokaw asked, "Is Mr. Stuttler willing?" Chertoff said, "Yes, sure." Judge Buzzard asked, "Does the state have any objections?" Brokaw smiled, "That's what we've been asking for."

A recess was declared for mid-afternoon, and Stuttler went to the office of Sheriff Russell VanFossan where Fetter took inked prints of both palms for later comparison.

After further direct and cross-examination in which it was re-emphasized the palm print was not a part of the impression which included the legible fingerprint, the state rested its case at 3:10 p. m.

The jury was excused for the day when Atty. Chertoff said he wished to argue a motion, then he moved for a directed verdict of acquittal on grounds the state had failed to present any evidence that Stuttler had forcibly entered the store.

Chertoff said the only evidence introduced was a fingerprint found 17 or 19 feet from the skylight where the entry was supposed to have been made. He declared the state had shown no evidence that the defendant had broken a window in the skylight as alleged in the bill of particulars.

"There is only an inference that Stuttler entered just because his fingerprint was found 19 feet away from the entry," the defense counsel contended. He also pointed out the latent print was partially superimposed on another, thus is not a "true copy" of the print.

Chertoff added there was no proof a burglary had occurred. "Of all the items supposed to be taken, none has been brought into the courtroom."

Judge Buzzard, in overruling the motion, said the evidence in the case "is a little peculiar," in that the entry was apparently made through the west window of the skylight, while the print was found on the north wall of the skylight, but the evidence should be submitted to the jury for its consideration.

The judge also cited a 1930 Oklahoma case in which a defendant was convicted of burglary entirely on circumstantial evidence, largely a fingerprint found on the vault in a store where the defendant was not an employe and had no ordinary access.

Judge Buzzard said the decision indicated fingerprint evidence without corroboration is grounds enough for conviction. He said in the present case, there is sufficient evidence for the jury to consider.

Party To Back Man At Lisbon For Road Post

A Lisbon engineer received endorsement for appointment as the new Division 11 Highway Department engineer at a dinner meeting Tuesday night of Democratic chairmen from seven Eastern Ohio counties.

William McKenna of Chestnut St., Lisbon, was selected at the meeting at the Travelers Hotel. The endorsement will be sent to Gov.-Elect Michael DiSalle and the state party chairman for approval, according to Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman and 18th District State Central Committeeman.

McKenna is a registered engineer and surveyor. He served as resident engineer for construction of East Liverpool's sewage disposal plant. The present division engineer is W. E. Quicksall, an appointee of retiring Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Quicksall was appointed early in 1957, replacing Dean R. Sever. Quicksall has been in East Liverpool many times to discuss highway matters with city officials and the roads and streets committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The seven counties represented were Columbiana, Belmont, Jefferson, Harrison, Carroll, Holmes and Tuscarawas. Thirty-five were present.

Gosney was host.

West Virginia Court Rejects Union's Appeal

Teamsters Union Local 468 of Steubenville has been refused a review of an injunction against a strike at a Weirton trucking company by the West Virginia Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court divided 4-1 in refusing to require Judge Brennan to show cause why a writ of prohibition should not be issued against him.

Annual Summary Given

County 4-H Ranks Second In Ohio

LISBON — A summary of agriculture extension work in Columbiana County in 1958 shows the county again ranked second in Ohio in 4-H Club enrollment, according to Floyd Lower, county agent.

A high per cent of project completion indicates the excellent quality of project work, he said. In 1958, 1,037 girls with 1,342 projects and 680 boys with 898 projects were enrolled in 90 clubs. Some 170 community leaders served as advisers for these 1,717 4-H members.

OVER 1,500 members exhibted 1,800 projects at the County Fair and 84 clubs participated by erecting booth exhibits and other displays.

A total of 2,240 projects were carried by the county members of which 87 per cent were completed.

A total of 450 attended the officers training sessions, 165 members attended Junior and Senior 4-H Camps, 825 participated in district and county Selection Days.

Increased opportunities for development of "Head, Heart, Hand and Health" were given 4-H members as 60 per cent of the clubs held meetings throughout the year.

THIS INCREASED the emphasis and training placed upon health and safety activities, special project work and social development.

The 4-H Advisory Council and 13 sub-committees comprising more than 182 persons interested in the youth of Columbiana County met many times during the year to plan phases of the 4-H programs. Areas of emphasis included project judging procedure, camp program plans, county-wide acitivties and County Fair details.

Over 125 members participated in countywide competition in the safety speaking contest, in agriculture and home economics demonstrations and in health improvement contests. County winners participated in their respective areas at the Ohio State Fair.

THE GREEN PASTURES program, which was started in 1951, was completed in 1958 with 33 farmers recognized for participating. Twenty-two were recognized in the years 1952-57.

The annual soils and crops institute was well attended. Soil tests consisted of 446 samples from 122 farms. Hybrid corn was planted on most farms with new hybrids being tried. Chemical weed control, meadow insect control, use of improved varieties of grain and use of conservation practices were widely followed.

More than a fourth of all cropland in the county is operated with conservation practices under plans developed with the aid of the Soil Conservation District.

Some 250 attended beef and vegetable institutes.

BUTTERFAT testing of individual cows in 116 herds was carried on through the Columbiana-Mahoning Dairy Herd Improvement Association the past year. Artificial breeding practices were followed in the majority of small herds and in many large herds with 35 per cent of all cows in the county being bred artificially.

Apple growers of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties built a packing plant at Greenford to grade, pack and sell apples cooperatively after a successful trial with 1957 crop. They reorganized the Cold Storage Association to include the packing operations.

THE ANNUAL winter meeting and summer field meetings, planned by committees of producers, were held by apple and peach, berry, potato and vegetable growers and by swine breeders and feeders and farm woodlot owners.

—:—

IMPULSE BUYING was emphasized as the most common hazard in wardrobe planning when 22 leaders were trained on this subject. These leaders stressed ths point to the 160 women in their local township groups.

Some 130 homemakers received training in small electrical repairs, and were informed on adequate wiring, type of wire, need and use of fuses and how to recognize danger signals in faulty wiring.

Some 1,500 county women participated in varied activities. The Christmas-at-Home Tea had an attendance of 1,250.

Back to college was the idea of five homemakers who attended the June homemakers short course in Columbus. Seventy-five high school girls interested in home economics were given assistance on Career Day.

Interest was high in learning more about family legal matters at local legal aid meetings. Civil Defense, kitchen planning and many other phases of work were included in the year's activities.

Thirty-four young farm families continue to receive extension assistance in analyzing and studying their respective farm and home situations and in planning for a developing farm and home business for a satisfactory rural life.

The potential value of new varieties of strawberries and potatoes was demonstrated in test plats at Firestone Farms. Chemical control of winter weeds in strawberries was also tested. Several growers tried new corn hybrids resistant to blackbird damage with satisfactory results.

Potato growers of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties were hosts to the Eastern Ohio Potato Field Day of Firestone Farms in August. The event was attended by 400 growers.

MORE THAN 175 farmers attended a dairy barn tour in March. Two meetings of public affairs topics, two community institutes, a tractor meeting, four beekeepers' meetings, a rural urban tour in East Liverpool, meetings sponsored by the County Health and Safety Council to discuss health topics and participation in various rural and community organizations involved many of the rural people of Columbiana County participate," Lower said.

DURING THE year, one or ity agricultural students spent a month each in the county in an apprentice training program.

"Sheep were dipped in 35 flocks, forest trees were planted on 93 farms. Scores of similar items could be used to illustrate the wide range of activities in which the rural people of Columbiana County participate," Lower said.

DURING THE year, one or more of the county extension agents attended 471 different meetings. The workers together made 1,188 farm and home visits, handled 1,059 office calls and over 4,378 phone calls, distributed over 5,391 bulletins and wrote 321 news stories.

Flash floods stem from a cloudburst. Such a one struck Cambridge, Ohio, in July 1914. Seven inches of rain fell in 30 minutes.

Weirton Steel Aide Heard

Personality Patterns Cited By Rotary Club's Speaker

The three most important patterns which reflect a person's daily behavior—attitudes, frustrations and motivation—were discussed by Frank Poland, director of educational training at the Weirton Steel Co., at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the Travelers Hotel.

Poland used visual aids and a flannelgraph in pointing out different pressures of the three personality patterns which figure prominently in an individual's outlook in life. His topic was "Human Relations."

Poland listed some of the most important motivational forces which reflect a person's desires in life as money, food, homes, job security, self satisfaction, recreation, advancement, old age security, clothing, luxuries, friendliness and respect and interest in work and religion.

He cited frustration in daily living as helping to fill the nation's mental institutions and said that a person's behavior pattern is reflected in his motivation, degree of frustration encountered and attitudes.

He also listed 14 principal rules devised by the educational and training department at Weirton Steel which are used in emphasizing better relations among employes, fellow workers and their families and neighbors.

When placed in a list on the flannelgraph, first letters of each rule spelled out the word, "human relations." Under the word human, Poland showed a person must "have self control, understand the viewpoints of others, make others' interests your own, admit it when you are wrong and never make promises you can't keep."

Under relations were reason, don't argue, explain thoroughly, lead, don't drive, avoid snap judgments, take care of little things, inform people of changes, observe, listen with understanding, never criticize in public and stress rewards.

Poland discussed briefly the meaning of each rule in conclusion. He was introduced by James A. Wallover of the program committee. Guests were present from Midland. A Board of Directors meeting followed with Dean Wilhelm, president, presiding.

Martin Will Fight Efforts To Curb Committee Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts indicated today he would resist efforts of a self-styled liberal block to curb the power of the House Rules Committee.

In an interview from his home in North Attleboro, Martin predicted that the new Congress will keep the present ratio of 8 Democrats and 4 Republicans on the potent rules group. He said he expects no change despite heavy Democratic gains in the November election.

Martin said there has been "an understanding" between the Republican and the Democratic House leadership that the 8-4 lineup would not be altered.

The rules committee normally determines what legislation the House may consider. It has shelved many major bills approved by other House committees.

The committee is headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) who, with Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) and the four Republican members, has been able to sidetrack bills backed by more liberal groups.

About 90 House Democrats who describe themselves as the liberal bloc would like to see the committee lineup changed to 9 Democrats and 3 Republicans, which would weaken the coalition's strangelehold on legislation.

Nontaxpaying Pastor Starts Eating Again

CINCINNAATI (AP)—A pacifist minister, thinner, pale and hollow-cheeked after a 15-day fast in jail, has started to eat again.

He's the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin, slated for trial next Friday on a charge he didn't turn up for a conference on his income taxes.

He decided to end his religious fast at advice of the county jail doctor, who has examined him daily.

Dr. George Musekamp and another physician, Dr. W. D. Lotspeich, University of Cincinnati medical professor, had advised the minister last Friday to break his fast.

The minister had said he would think it over.

The Rev. Mr. McCrackin has refused to pay part or all of his taxes for 10 years because he says the money helps pay for arms and he believes war is evil.

A friend, Ernest Bromley, who visited the pastor Tuesday, said he was in good spirits, and seemed in good health.

But Bromley brought bad news to the Presbyterian - Episcopal minister—Episcopal officials want some changes in the church-linked neighborhood house which the Rev. Mr. McCrackin directs.

The suggested changes mainly center on the minister resigning his post as director, but not his pastorate.

Episcopal Bishop Henry Wise Hobson conferred with the neighborhood house board Monday night and a board spokesman said he gave them an ultimatum:

"Get something worked out by the end of the month."

Nick Musuraca Presented Booth Award At Grid Banquet

Senior Guard Also Selected Most Valuable

Nick Musuraca, sturdy 160-pound guard who recently was given a berth on the Associated Press All-Ohio defensive second team, received the top honor of his schoolboy career Tuesday night when he was presented the Bill Booth Memorial Award during East Liverpool High School's football banquet.

The trophy — 21st since its establishment in 1938 — was presented by Carl A. (Pop) Werner, general secretary of the YMCA, at the annual event held in Westgate Junior High School. About 170 attended.

GUEST SPEAKER was Vince Costello, standout guard of the Cleveland Browns. Jimmy Lowery, WOHI sportscaster, served as toastmaster.

The coveted award went to one of East Liverpool's most outstanding defensive lineman in years. In addition to being named to the All - Ohio team of the Associated Press, Musuraca also was selected on the Jaycees All - Ohio first team and given a first place position on the All - Eastern Ohio eleven.

He was also accorded two other honors last night, being named most valuable player of this year's team and most outstanding lineman.

Coach Lou Venditti presented Goodballet, 155 - pound senior, with trophies for being selected by the Potter team as the most outstanding back and for being voted honorary captain for 1957-58.

Horger, a 145-pound senior, was named by the team as "rookie" of the year, which went to a gridder who had not earned a letter in his football career. Names of recipients of the awards were kept secret until the banquet.

ELEVEN seniors, eight juniors and six sophomores received letters from Venditti, while 12 others received reserve awards.

The seniors are Musuraca, Goodballet, Horger, Bill O'Neil, Carl Ludwig, Mike Kapp, Pat Cooper, Jim Clunk, John McCullough, Joe Leigh and Ravenna Bell.

Juniors who received letters were Charlie Davidson, Ron Prince, Dave Zelch, Craig Burbick, Bob Mackall, Jim Bise, Charlie Barnhouse and Henry Roach.

Sophomore letter winners included Kenny Cunningham, John Goodballet, Clifford Goodballet, Skip Hall, Joe Thompson and Tim Archer.

Reserve letters went to Dave Couch, Larry Crook, Gary Anderson, Jim Sparks, Joe Smith, Craig O'Neil, Gary Montgomery, Glenn Mays, John Goempel, Mike Geon, Bob Exton and Robert Wright.

Six student managers named as letter winners were Art Thomas Jr., Milton Powell, Gary Hicks, Clark Birch, Corliss Myers and Tom Wiegans.

The entire team received miniature footballs and statuettes, which served as place favors for the banquet.

MUSURACA was the 12th lineman to win the award presented annually in memory of the late Bill Booth, who was killed in an automobile accident while attending Ohio State University.

It is given by the Senior Hi-Y Club to a senior player selected by a secret, neutral committee for his ability, sportsmanship, scholastic standing, character and leadership.

Jim Kapp, a guard now at Wooster College, received the award last year. Zelch received last year's merit award, while George Hale, freshman at Ohio State, won the 1957 most valuable player award.

Speaking at the affair arranged by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, the affable Costello, a 225-pounder in his second year with the Browns, wove a humorous note into his address and kept listeners laughing most of the time with anecdotes of his grid career.

In his more serious comments, he urged the Potter team to "work hard to excell in football, practice humility and utilize spare time to improve speed, strength and stamina to really enjoy the game."

"It takes a developed mind to fully understand the game," he said, "and by following these rules, individuals will receive ample dividends."

"Work hard to excell in football, and try to be the best on the team," Costello emphasized, and added "always remember the best individual effort leads to a best team effort."

He said the game has "brought him closer to his religion" among other things, in addition to learning him many lessons which could be applied to later life.

COSTELLO, a native of Dellroy, participated in sports at Magnolia High School and Ohio University, Athens. He played minor league baseball before entering the Air Force as a first lieutenant. His first coaching job was at Big Walnut, near Columbus.

Lawrence, a member of the Board of Education, Merrill Hall, athletic director, Ed Hester, general chairman of the banquet, Jack Connell, Nonpareil treasurer, Steve Fortunato, grid coach at Steubenville Central Catholic, and Chuck Deshler, who took movies at this year's games.

Other coaches introduced included Dom Cascio and Harry Wolfe of East Junior High School, Bill Blair and Bill Erlitz of Westgate, and several wives of coaches and guests. Ang Venditti, brother of the Potter mentor, also attended.

The banquet was served by the Calcutta Grange. Flowers for table decorations were donated by Riverview Florists. Werner offered invocation and also gave closing prayer.

Wellsville Turns Back Lisbon, 57-53, For Second Victory

Spurt In Third Quarter Does Trick For Tigers

By ROB NIBLOCK

After an erratic first half, Wellsville spurted in the third period and then held off a closing bid by Lisbon to defeat the Blue Devils, 57-53, Tuesday night at Beacon Memorial Gymnasium.

Coach John Mills' Lisbon squad, gunning for an opening game triumph, kept the pressure on the Tigers until the third period when Wellsville opened up with a fast break attack to score 22 points.

Holding a comfortable 14 - point margin at the beginning of the fourth period, Coach Jack McDevitt's charges were forced to scramble to come up with their second victory in three starts as Lisbon closed the gap to four points with less than a minute remaining.

IT WAS the first Wellsville victory over the Blue Devils with McDevitt at the helm. In his first year with the Tigers in 1957, Lisbon handed them a 79-51 thumping.

In 20 games with Lisbon, Wellsville now has a 12-8 record.

The Blue Devils, who were short on big men, used a pressing man-for-man defense effectively in the first and fourth quarters, forcing the Tigers to take a number of shots from outside, especially in the first half.

The Tigers had a poor night from the field, hitting on only 33 per cent of their shots, but rebounding strength gave them 59 tries while Lisbon got only 35 attempts at the hoop.

Accurate foul shooting by Lisbon kept them in contention. They hit on 21 of 33 attempts. In the final quarter, they connected on nine tosses from the charity stripe.

Wellsville converted 19 of 30 foul shots.

FRANKLIN JACKSON took scoring honors and led the Tiger attack with 18 points. The 6-1 junior forward sparked the big third quarter by dropping in four fielders.

The scoring pace of Dan Baldwin was slowed considerably by the sticky Lisbon defense, but he managed to finish second high with 16. Held to only three points in the first half, he clicked for 10 in the third quarter and added three more in the final.

Another of McDevitt's surprising sophomores broke into the Tiger lineup late in the first period and provided a much-needed offensive punch by dropping in a pair of key shots from the outside and contributing four straight foul shots.

Rick Gray, a diminutive cager who earlier had led the reserves to a victory, was sent into the game with the Tigers leading 14-11 and immediately increased the bulge to five on a deadly set.

Gray, who played just a little over two quarters, finished with 10 points, third high for the Tigers.

Sophomore Bob Kiggans turned in another steady performance as he clicked for eight points on three field goals and two fouls.

BOB PIKE, who fouled out with 23 seconds remaining in the game, finished with 15 points, high for the Blue Devils. Pike and Paul McLaughlin were the key men in the late Lisbon bid for victory.

McLaughlin, who finished with seven points, poured in three set shots from outside in the opening minutes of the fourth period. Pike contributed two field goals and a pair of fouls just before he left the contest with five personals.

Dogging the Tiger cagers with tireless defensive efforts, the Blue Devils kept within three or four points throughout the first half, which ended with Wellsville on top, 26-24.

With the exception of a single field goal by Gray, the entire scoring output of the Tigers was at the foul line in the second period. The Blue Devils, too, made numerous trips to the foul line in that period, clicking on five.

Captain Denny Reese, held scoreless in the last half, was high before intermission with three field goals.

Gray got the Tigers off on the right foot in the third period by pumping in another long one and then Baldwin and Jackson took over, dropping in seven field goals between them.

The fourth quarter, which was of the rough-and-tumble variety, saw the pressing tactics of the Blue Devils yield dividends. Apparently rattling the Tigers by numerous steals, Lisbon drew a rash of foul shots.

Four successive conversions at the foul stripe by Lisbon brought the count to 54-50 with a little over two minutes remaining, but that was as close as they could get, with Baldwin and Bob Walker hitting for three foul shots between them.

The little Tigers trailed 20-14 at the half but came strong in the third period to grab a 27-22 lead.

Irondale Wins, 63-51, As Fraley Collects 28

Sharpshooting Don Fraley found the range with his jump shot for 28 points in leading Irondale's undefeated Irons to a 63-51 victory over Wayne High School Tuesday night on the loser's court.

Fraley, a 5-8 senior, hit for a dozen field goals and four free throws to spark Coach Les Douglas' five to their second straight victory.

The Irons disposed of Brilliant last week, 47-45. Last night's win equaled the entire victory output in 1957 of Coach Len Batcha's club that lost 12 games.

Fraley waged a scoring duel with Wayne's Slaga, who dumped in 25 points, but received scoring help from his mates. Gale Boggs, 6-2 center, contributed 11 points to the Irondale attack, whole Lon Fraley and Bill Chetock hit for 9 points each.

The Irons face a stiffer test in Friday's game with Class AA Wintersville. In the preliminary, the Irondale reserves walked away with the attraction by routing Wayne's reserves, 39-18. John Lutton's eight points topped the reserve scoring for Irondale.

South Siders Edged, 52-51

A desperation field goal by West Allegheny in the dying seconds of the game spoiled South Side's home opener Tuesday night as the visitors gained a 52-51 uphill triumph over Coach George Thompson's Golden Eagle cagers.

South Side, now 1-3, lost the ball after a jump with only seconds remaining and was unable to get off another shot after West Allegheny got a one - point lead.

The Golden Eagles had erased a third - period four - point lead which Allegheny held, but the loss of three starters on fouls in the last four minutes hurt their cause considerably.

High man for South Side was Clinton Schmidt who dumped 14 points. Dan Frasier, hitting for nine consecutive points in the final period, finished with 11.

BOB PIKE, who fouled out with 23 seconds remaining in the game, finished with 15 points, high for the Blue Devils. Pike and Paul McLaughlin were the key men in the late Lisbon bid for victory.

McLaughlin, who finished with seven points, poured in three set shots from outside in the opening minutes of the fourth period. Pike contributed two field goals and a pair of fouls just before he left the contest with five personals.

Dogging the Tiger cagers with tireless defensive efforts, the Blue Devils kept within three or four points throughout the first half, which ended with Wellsville on top, 26-24.

With the exception of a single field goal by Gray, the entire scoring output of the Tigers was at the foul line in the second period. The Blue Devils, too, made numerous trips to the foul line in that period, clicking on five.

Captain Denny Reese, held scoreless in the last half, was high before intermission with three field goals.

Gray got the Tigers off on the right foot in the third period by pumping in another long one and then Baldwin and Jackson took over, dropping in seven field goals between them.

The fourth quarter, which was of the rough-and-tumble variety, saw the pressing tactics of the Blue Devils yield dividends. Apparently rattling the Tigers by numerous steals, Lisbon drew a rash of foul shots.

Four successive conversions at the foul stripe by Lisbon brought the count to 54-50 with a little over two minutes remaining, but that was as close as they could get, with Baldwin and Bob Walker hitting for three foul shots between them.

Irondale Wins, 63-51, As Fraley Collects 28

Sharpshooting Don Fraley found the range with his jump shot for 28 points in leading Irondale's undefeated Irons to a 63-51 victory over Wayne High School Tuesday night on the loser's court.

Fraley, a 5-8 senior, hit for a dozen field goals and four free throws to spark Coach Les Douglas' five to their second straight victory.

The Irons disposed of Brilliant last week, 47-45. Last night's win equaled the entire victory output in 1957 of Coach Len Batcha's club that lost 12 games.

Fraley waged a scoring duel with Wayne's Slaga, who dumped in 25 points, but received scoring help from his mates. Gale Boggs, 6-2 center, contributed 11 points to the Irondale attack, whole Lon Fraley and Bill Chetock hit for 9 points each.

The Irons face a stiffer test in Friday's game with Class AA Wintersville. In the preliminary, the Irondale reserves walked away with the attraction by routing Wayne's reserves, 39-18. John Lutton's eight points topped the reserve scoring for Irondale.

SALEM—Sparked by Dan Krichbaum and Woody Deitch, the Salem High basketeers trounced invading Struthers, 64-40, here Tuesday night in the 1958-59 curtain-raiser for Coach John Cabas' Quakers.

After being held to a 9-9 deadlock in the first period, the Quakers began pulling away steadily, and at halftime were on the long end of a 27-18 count.

A 23-point output in the third period put the game on ice for the Salem cagers.

Deitch pumped in 16 points to pace the Quakers while Krichbaum looped 14.

Salem connected on 23 of 56 field goal attempts for 43 per cent. The visitors, paced by Roy Perkins' 13 counters, made 15 of 47 shots for 32 per cent.

Sherrard's rangy five piled up a 16-point margin at the end of the first period and increased it in later quarters to win easily with a booming 38-goal attack.

New Cumberland's Phil Cullen waged a strong scoring duel with two of Sherrard's tall cagers and finished the night with 24 points.

Don Jones led the Sherrard attack with 38 points, while Larry Stead collected 28. New Cumberland had a fair night at the foul stripe by hitting 17 of 30 free throws.

South Siders Edged, 52-51

A desperation field goal by West Allegheny in the dying seconds of the game spoiled South Side's home opener Tuesday night as the visitors gained a 52-51 uphill triumph over Coach George Thompson's Golden Eagle cagers.

South Side, now 1-3, lost the ball after a jump with only seconds remaining and was unable to get off another shot after West Allegheny got a one - point lead.

The Golden Eagles had erased a third - period four - point lead which Allegheny held, but the loss of three starters on fouls in the last four minutes hurt their cause considerably.

High man for South Side was Clinton Schmidt who dumped 14 points. Dan Frasier, hitting for nine consecutive points in the final period, finished with 11.

High scorer for West Allegheny, a Class A school was Sam Long with 14 points.

The South Side reserves were defeated, 36-29, as Jim Laughlin finished high for the losers with 11.

Pacific Coast Loop Lifts Ban On UCLA

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Pacific Coast Conference, cleaning up loose ends before disbanding, has lifted its ban on UCLA football teams and drawn up plans teams for the 1960 Rose Bowl game.

By ending the Bruins' probationary status, the conference makes UCLA eligible for a full share of Rose Bowl game receipts for the first time since 1956 when the school was found guilty of giving illegal aid to athletes.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Ice fishing already has started at Westville Lake. Two rugged individuals were busy catching bluegills last Saturday.

Deer season with shotguns is now under way.

One thing, I hope, is that the deer population will be thinned out in localities where deer just don't belong. I am referring to the city limits of Salem, Lisbon and East Liverpool.

A MAN living on Stewart Road, just outside the city limits of Salem, told me he had been feeding three deer since last season and was concerned about some hunter shooting them during the open season.

I told him I hoped they did get shot, and he looked at me as if I was out of my mind.

To be brutally frank, those deer could be the cause of a human being losing his life.

Look what happened to the woman living out Depot Road! Two deer jumped directly into the side of her car, causing her to go into the ditch. Fortunately, it was only about three feet deep, but it could have been tragic if the ditch had been deeper.

Which is more important, the lives and limbs of human beings or having wild animals roaming around where they do not normally belong?

True, you get the deer if you own the vehicle that killed it, but look at the repair bill. Look at the shock you go through. You sit there waiting for a wrecker to get you out of the ditch.

The slightest damage usually runs around $100, and has run up as high as a completely demolished car.

—:—

HUNTERS should take it upon themselves to always be courteous to the land owners.

If you are lucky enough to bag a deer, then don't leave the insides lay in the pasture where cattle normally roam.

Don't tear down a fence to get the carcass to your car.

Get permission to hunt. Share some of the venison with the landowner if he likes it. It is my opinion though, that most farmers have their own home-cured meat which is far better eating than venison.

I also hope the land owners will permit deer hunting when it can be done without jeopardizing their premises.

If any nitwit starts shooting pumpkin balls or rifle slugs too close to the barn or home, then call the nearest game protector and have the hunter arrested. There is a very strong law against shooting too close to buildings, and it should be enforced.

The result of the deer hunt will follow in next week's article.

Anyone bagging a buck with an unusually large rack should notify me so it can be officially measured and entered into the Boone & Crockett Club.

Moore Picked To Hold Title

MONTREAL (AP)—Jack Sharkey will referee the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title fight tonight and the general feeling here is that his main job will be to count ten.

There is hardly a soul in this zero weather French-Canadian metropolis who believes it will end in anything but a knockout.

Archie, making the seventh defense of his 175-pound division crown, remained a solid 14-5 favorite to whip the 29-year-old fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann, N.B.

Durelle, a dock-fighting type with a minimum of finesse, said "one of us will go by the 11th or 12th round. I'm going to win or they're going to carry me out."

Leetonia Five Nails Opener By 66-To-59

Len Batcha, former Irondale coach, made his debut at Leetonia High a successful one Tuesday night as Leetonia tripped visiting Fairfield-Waterford, 66-59.

A tight game all the way due to heavy fouling, Leetonia managed to hold to a narrow lead only by the sharpshooting of center Gene Leffler and forward Chuck Lippiatt.

Fairfield-Waterford picked up 25 of its points at the foul stripe and had a hot night by sinking 25 of 34 atternpts. Leetonia had an edge in field goals, 24-17, but made only 18 of 33 foul tries.

Lee Chamberlain, top-notch scorer for the losers, took honors for the game by pumping in 25 points on eight goals and nine free throws.

Chuck Olnhausen contributed 13 to the losers' attack. Kannal finished with eight on as many free throws.

In the preliminary, Leetonia also managed to win the reserve game 34-21.

Pacific Coast Loop Lifts Ban On UCLA

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Pacific Coast Conference, cleaning up loose ends before disbanding, has lifted its ban on UCLA football teams and drawn up plans for the 1960 Rose Bowl game.

By ending the Bruins' probationary status, the conference makes UCLA eligible for a full share of Rose Bowl game receipts for the first time since 1956 when the school was found guilty of giving illegal aid to athletes.

Rites For Tris Speaker To Be Held Thursday

HUBBARD, Tex. (AP) — Tris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest centerfielders, will be laid to rest Thursday beside his parents in a hilltop cemetery studded with cedars.

Speaker, 70, died Monday of a heart attack while fishing 30 miles west of this central Texas town he called home.

Services are scheduled for 11:30 a.m. EST Thursday at the Wolfe Funeral Chapel here.

Coach At Alma Mater

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Ice fishing already has started at Westville Lake. Two rugged individuals were busy catching bluegills last Saturday.

Deer season with shotguns is now under way.

One thing, I hope, is that the deer population will be thinned out in localities where deer just don't belong. I am referring to the city limits of Salem, Lisbon and East Liverpool.

A MAN living on Stewart Road, just outside the city limits of Salem, told me he had been feeding three deer since last season and was concerned about some hunter shooting them during the open season.

I told him I hoped they did get shot, and he looked at me as if I was out of my mind.

To be brutally frank, those deer could be the cause of a human being losing his life.

Look what happened to the woman living out Depot Road! Two deer jumped directly into the side of her car, causing her to go into the ditch. Fortunately, it was only about three feet deep, but it could have been tragic if the ditch had been deeper.

Which is more important, the lives and limbs of human beings or having wild animals roaming around where they do not normally belong?

True, you get the deer if you own the vehicle that killed it, but look at the repair bill. Look at the shock you go through. You sit there waiting for a wrecker to get you out of the ditch.

The slightest damage usually runs around $100, and has run up as high as a completely demolished car.

—:—

HUNTERS should take it upon themselves to always be courteous to the land owners.

If you are lucky enough to bag a deer, then don't leave the insides lay in the pasture where cattle normally roam.

Don't tear down a fence to get the carcass to your car.

Get permission to hunt. Share some of the venison with the landowner if he likes it. It is my opinion though, that most farmers have their own home-cured meat which is far better eating than venison.

I also hope the land owners will permit deer hunting when it can be done without jeopardizing their premises.

If any nitwit starts shooting pumpkin balls or rifle slugs too close to the barn or home, then call the nearest game protector and have the hunter arrested. There is a very strong law against shooting too close to buildings, and it should be enforced.

The result of the deer hunt will follow in next week's article.

Anyone bagging a buck with an unusually large rack should notify me so it can be officially measured and entered into the Boone & Crockett Club.

Moore Picked To Hold Title

MONTREAL (AP)—Jack Sharkey will referee the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title fight tonight and the general feeling here is that his main job will be to count ten.

There is hardly a soul in this zero weather French-Canadian metropolis who believes it will end in anything but a knockout.

Archie, making the seventh defense of his 175-pound division crown, remained a solid 14-5 favorite to whip the 29-year-old fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann, N.B.

Durelle, a dock-fighting type with a minimum of finesse, said "one of us will go by the 11th or 12th round. I'm going to win or they're going to carry me out."

If they don't lug him out on his shield, it will go down as one of the great upsets in fistic annals. Moore, who will celebrate his 42nd, 45th or 49th birthday anniversary three days from now, has a big edge in everything but the calendar.

Today there are 35 U. S. colleges offering professional training courses in forestry.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm a divorcee debating the most important decision of my life.

I'm going with a perfectly wonderful man. His wife died four years ago. He's attractive, well established and he loves me.

The trouble is, he finds a great deal wrong with my two sons. They are high-spirited, normal, energetic little boys, 7 and 9. One reason I divorced their father was because he didn't pay any attention to them.

I believe in a family doing things together. I insist the boys be included in social activities — particularly the cultural ones. I think they should come with us to the theater in the evening, the opera, concerts and dinner at the hotel.

My friend disagrees. He gets upset when they do the least little mischievous thing in public. He says they are undisciplined and ill behaved.

He also says if we marry he expects to have a say in their rearing. I love him but I'm afraid to marry a man who shows signs of being a dictator. Please advise.—WILMA.

Dictator my eye. Unless someone with common sense steps into the picture, you're going to find yourself with two totally obnoxious children and a very lonesome old age.

You consider the boys "high spirited, normal and energetic." Your friend says they are "undisciplined and ill behaved." I suspect he's closer to the truth.

Of course, doing things as a family is important but why drag these kids to places YOU enjoy merely because you think it's cultural?

Boys 7 and 9 don't belong at the opera and theater at night. They misbehave because they're bored and tired. They'd have more fun at an afternoon ball game.

It would be a blessing for your children if you married this man and permitted him to have a say in their upbringing. You've got the wrong slant, Mater.

Quote, Unquote

Dear Ann: I don't know Seattle Henry — but apparently you don't know Sir Walter Scott — so that makes us even.

The lines he gave you as following, "Oh what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive" were either original with Henry or he was pulling your leg. The lines Henry threw you —

"If our wits we exercise, we'll soon be telling foolproof lies" — were very "un-Scott-like." I'm surprised you bit!

If you want to set your readers straight, here are the lines as Scott wrote them before Seattle Henry got into the act:

"A Palmer, too! — no wonder why I felt rebuked beneath his eye: I might have known there was but one whose look could quell Lord Marmion."—T.B.M., M.D.

Dear Doc: I deserve the bull whip. A wet noodle will not suffice. I'm horrified to think I was taken in like a Rube at a county fair by Henry's doggerel. For shame!

Smile, Smile Smile

Dear Ann: I'm going to be married on New Year's Day. My fiance is a grand fellow I will call Karl. We are having trouble over the best man.

Karl has asked his buddy to serve and he knows I hate him. This guy tried to break us up a year ago but it didn't work.

I told Karl the wedding will be spoiled unless he tells the fellow he doesn't want him. I even gave him permission to tell him why.

He says I'm childish and he can't tell his pal now that he's changed his mind. I say he should have discussed this with me before he asked him.

Shall I make an issue of it? I could win if it came to a showdown.—MAD AT HIM.

-:-

Win what — title of Miss Witch of the Bridal Season?

Selecting the best man is one of the few privileges of the bridegroom. You put Karl in an impossible position when you ask him to withdraw the invitation. Rise above the situation and smile if it kills you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review and enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm a divorcee debating the most important decision of my life.

I'm going with a perfectly wonderful man. His wife died four years ago. He's attractive, well established and he loves me.

The trouble is, he finds a great deal wrong with my two sons. They are high-spirited, normal, energetic little boys, 7 and 9. One reason I divorced their father was because he didn't pay any attention to them.

I believe in a family doing things together. I insist the boys be included in social activities — particularly the cultural ones. I think they should come with us to the theater in the evening, the opera, concerts and dinner at the hotel.

My friend disagrees. He gets upset when they do the least little mischievous thing in public. He says they are undisciplined and ill behaved.

He also says if we marry he expects to have a say in their rearing. I love him but I'm afraid to marry a man who shows signs of being a dictator. Please advise.—WILMA.

Dictator my eye. Unless someone with common sense steps into the picture, you're going to find yourself with two totally obnoxious children and a very lonesome old age.

You consider the boys "high spirited, normal and energetic." Your friend says they are "undisciplined and ill behaved." I suspect he's closer to the truth.

Of course, doing things as a family is important but why drag these kids to places YOU enjoy merely because you think it's cultural?

Boys 7 and 9 don't belong at the opera and theater at night. They misbehave because they're bored and tired. They'd have more fun at an afternoon ball game.

It would be a blessing for your children if you married this man and permitted him to have a say in their upbringing. You've got the wrong slant, Mater.

Quote, Unquote

Dear Ann: I don't know Seattle Henry — but apparently you don't know Sir Walter Scott — so that makes us even.

The lines he gave you as following, "Oh what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive" were either original with Henry or he was pulling your leg. The lines Henry threw you —

"If our wits we exercise, we'll soon be telling foolproof lies" — were very "un-Scott-like." I'm surprised you bit!

If you want to set your readers straight, here are the lines as Scott wrote them before Seattle Henry got into the act:

"A Palmer, too! — no wonder why I felt rebuked beneath his eye: I might have known there was but one whose look could quell Lord Marmion."—T.B.M., M.D.

Dear Doc: I deserve the bull whip. A wet noodle will not suffice. I'm horrified to think I was taken in like a Rube at a county fair by Henry's doggerel. For shame!

Smile, Smile Smile

Dear Ann: I'm going to be married on New Year's Day. My fiance is a grand fellow I will call Karl. We are having trouble over the best man.

Karl has asked his buddy to serve and he knows I hate him. This guy tried to break us up a year ago but it didn't work.

I told Karl the wedding will be spoiled unless he tells the fellow he doesn't want him. I even gave him permission to tell him why.

He says I'm childish and he can't tell his pal now that he's changed his mind. I say he should have discussed this with me before he asked him.

Shall I make an issue of it? I could win if it came to a showdown.—MAD AT HIM.

-:-

Win what — title of Miss Witch of the Bridal Season?

Selecting the best man is one of the few privileges of the bridegroom. You put Karl in an impossible position when you ask him to withdraw the invitation. Rise above the situation and smile if it kills you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review and enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Lisbon Board Lets Contract To Print Bonds

Teacher 29 Years Resigns; Basketball Aide Is Replaced

LISBON — The Board of Education Tuesday night awarded a $130 contract for the printing of bonds for the $135,000 issue for construction of an addition to Lincoln School. The printing was given to the S. P. Mountz Co. of Cleveland.

The resignation of Mrs. Mary Flugan was accepted as an elementary teacher at McKinley School, effective Dec. 31. Mrs. Flugan has taught school for 29 years —21 in the Lisbon system.

Ernest Costello was released of his duties as assistant basketball coach. He will be replaced by John Lewis the remainder of the season. Costello said he wishes to further his education by attending night classes.

A lengthy discussion was held on a report of psychologist's tests given pupils in Grades 2, 3, 4 and 5 and the possibility of establishing a slow learners class, beginning next September.

The board requested that parents of the children for the class be contacted. The board will determine if there is an extra room available. A remedial reading instructor may be provided slow learning students next year. Age entry for kindergarten and first grade pupils was discussed but the matter was tabled pending a recommendation of the State Board of Education.

The board authorized Mrs. Della Wetzel and David Borrow, principals, to attend the Ohio elementary school principals meeting Feb. 7-9 in Columbus.

The board also discussed the awards made to seniors on Senior Day and decided it was well rounded and not necessary to provide more scholarship awards.

It also authorized the American History Class to take a weekend trip to Gettysburg under the direction of Edwin Bucher. Mrs. Judith Powell's fourth grade sent a note of appreciation for allowing the pupils to visit Greater Pittsburgh Airport recently.

The high school roof was reported leaking again and the board discussed repairs but took no action.

Letters were ordered sent to parents of boys who may be interested in taking the vocational-agricultural course. Unless enough students are enrolled, the course will be dropped.

The board approved a minimum of 15 credits from various subjects towards the 17 required for graduation from the high school.

Lisbon Board Lets Contract To Print Bonds

Teacher 29 Years Resigns; Basketball Aide Is Replaced

LISBON — The Board of Education Tuesday night awarded a $130 contract for the printing of bonds for the $135,000 issue for construction of an addition to Lincoln School. The printing was given to the S. P. Mountz Co. of Cleveland.

The resignation of Mrs. Mary Flugan was accepted as an elementary teacher at McKinley School, effective Dec. 31. Mrs. Flugan has taught school for 29 years —21 in the Lisbon system.

Ernest Costello was released of his duties as assistant basketball coach. He will be replaced by John Lewis the remainder of the season. Costello said he wishes to further his education by attending night classes.

A lengthy discussion was held on a report of psychologist's tests given pupils in Grades 2, 3, 4 and 5 and the possibility of establishing a slow learners class, beginning next September.

The board requested that parents of the children for the class be contacted. The board will determine if there is an extra room available. A remedial reading instructor may be provided slow learning students next year. Age entry for kindergarten and first grade pupils was discussed but the matter was tabled pending a recommendation of the State Board of Education.

The board authorized Mrs. Della Wetzel and David Borrow, principals, to attend the Ohio elementary school principals meeting Feb. 7-9 in Columbus.

The board also discussed the awards made to seniors on Senior Day and decided it was well rounded and not necessary to provide more scholarship awards.

It also authorized the American History Class to take a weekend trip to Gettysburg under the direction of Edwin Bucher. Mrs. Judith Powell's fourth grade sent a note of appreciation for allowing the pupils to visit Greater Pittsburgh Airport recently.

The high school roof was reported leaking again and the board discussed repairs but took no action.

Letters were ordered sent to parents of boys who may be interested in taking the vocational-agricultural course. Unless enough students are enrolled, the course will be dropped.

The board approved a minimum of 15 credits from various subjects towards the 17 required for graduation from the high school.

Smith & Phillips
YOU CAN Trade-In
Your Old
Furniture
AS YOU WOULD YOUR OLD CAR
Read The Facts

Now your old furniture can help pay for the beautiful new furniture you've been wanting.

"The trouble with furniture" people say "is that it costs too much and lasts too long."

Soundly built furniture seems to refuse to "wear out". Relatively few families are in a position to discard usable furniture, to give it away or sell it for peanuts, in order to refurnish their homes with the beautiful new things they see in our store and in our advertisements. That's what makes this announcement of Smith and Phillips Trade-In plan of such significance to homemakers in this area.

Smith & Phillips will appraise your old furniture, tell you how large a trade-in allowance you can receive.

No "gimmicks," no "sleight of hand," no "flat allowances" offered regardless of the value of your furniture, no prices inflated to absorb the allowance you receive. You dial Smith & Phillips FU 5-1215 We send an appraiser to your home without the slightest obligation to you whatsoever. You then visit your Smith & Phillips store. You choose the furniture you want from one of the largest, finest, most value-conscious collections in East Liverpool. You deduct your Trade-In allowance from the prices on the tags—and if you prefer, you arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

Some questions and answers

We've been discussing this plan with some of our customers. They've asked some questions that may be occurring to you now. Here they are!

Can I come in to see whether I can find the new furniture I want before you send an appraiser to my home?

Of course. You are decidedly welcome to visit your Smith & Phillips store (and if you haven't shopped Smith & Phillips lately, you're in for an eye-opening treat!) After you have made your selection, we can arrange to have an appraiser call at your home.

What if I decide not to make a purchase after you make an appraisal?

You are under no obligation at any time. If you decide not to make a purchase, we'll thank you for having given us an opportunity to be of service—and hope that you'll give us another opportunity some time soon.

May I trade-in any suite of furniture I own toward the purchase of a new suite?

Yes. For example, you can trade-in your old living room suite toward the purchase of a new living room suite; you can trade in your old bedroom for a new bedroom. Or you can trade-in your old bedroom suite for a new living room.

And here's the $64,000 question! If your prices are as low as they possibly can be, how can you afford to offer trade-in allowances?

You know what happens to your old car when you trade it in. That's exactly what will happen to you. old furniture. We plan to recondition it and resell it through our Used Furniture Departments. Our trade-in allowance will not be price discounts. They represent actual value we expect to recover through the resale of your old furniture.

May I trade-in my furniture and not purchase anything immediately?

Yes. For example, you may wish to have that old sofa out of your way, but may not be able to purchase anything right away. We will appraise the sofa and allow you an amount toward the purchase of a certain amount in the future. Let us say we allow $30.00 for the old sofa on the purchase of $150.00 at any time in the future. Your account will be marked with a credit of $30.00. If your next purchase is for $75.00 we apportion the credit or in other words, we will allow you $15.00 at that time and you will still have $15.00 credit due on $75.00 worth of purchase. Many persons have taken advantage of this unique trade-in plan in the past, but some of you may not have known of it.

Smith & Phillips
YOU CAN
Trade-In Your Old Furniture
AS YOU WOULD YOUR OLD CAR
Read The Facts

Now your old furniture can help pay for the beautiful new furniture you've been wanting.

"The trouble with furniture" people say "is that it costs too much and lasts too long."
Soundly built furniture seems to refuse to "wear out". Relatively few families are in a position to discard usable furniture, to give it away or sell it for peanuts, in order to refurnish their homes with the beautiful new things they see in our store and in our advertisements. That's what makes this announcement of Smith and Phillips Trade-In plan of such significance to homemakers in this area.

Smith & Phillips will appraise your old furniture, tell you how large a trade-in allowance you can receive.
No "gimmicks," no "sleight of hand," no "flat allowances" offered regardless of the value of your furniture, no prices inflated to absorb the allowance you receive. You dial Smith & Phillips FU 5-1215 We send an appraiser to your home without the slightest obligation to you whatsoever. You then visit your Smith & Phillips store. You choose the furniture you want from one of the largest, finest, most value-conscious collections in East Liverpool. You deduct your Trade-In allowance from the prices on the tags—and if you prefer, you arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

Some questions and answers
We've been discussing this plan with some of our customers. They've asked some questions that may be occurring to you now. Here they are!

Can I come in to see whether I can find the new furniture I want before you send an appraiser to my home?
Of course. You are decidedly welcome to visit your Smith & Phillips store (and if you haven't shopped Smith & Phillips lately, you're in for an eye-opening treat!) After you have made your selection, we can arrange to have an appraiser call at your home.

What if I decide not to make a purchase after you make an appraisal?
You are under no obligation at any time. If you decide not to make a purchase, we'll thank you for having given us an opportunity to be of service—and hope that you'll give us another opportunity some time soon.

May I trade-in any suite of furniture I own toward the purchase of a new suite?
Yes. For example, you can trade-in your old living room suite toward the purchase of a new living room suite; you can trade in your old bedroom for a new bedroom. Or you can trade-in your old bedroom suite for a new living room.

And here's the $64,000 question! If your prices are as low as they possibly can be, how can you afford to offer trade-in allowances?
You know what happens to your old car when you trade it in. That's exactly what will happen to you. old furniture. We plan to recondition it and resell it through our Used Furniture Departments. Our trade-in allowance will not be price discounts. They represent actual value we expect to recover through the resale of your old furniture.

May I trade-in my furniture and not purchase anything immediately?
Yes. For example, you may wish to have that old sofa out of your way, but may not be able to purchase anything right away. We will appraise the sofa and allow you an amount toward the purchase of a certain amount in the future. Let us say we allow $30.00 for the old sofa on the purchase of $150.00 at any time in the future. Your account will be marked with a credit of $30.00. If your next purchase is for $75.00 we apportion the credit or in other words, we will allow you $15.00 at that time and you will still have $15.00 credit due on $75.00 worth of purchase. Many persons have taken advantage of this unique trade-in plan in the past, but some of you may not have known of it.

Prompt Action By Wife Saves Composer's Life

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Prompt action by composer Rudolf Friml's wife saved his life when a glass table top shattered and cut his leg, a doctor says.

Mrs. Friml applied a tourniquet with a towel and took her 78-year-old husband to a doctor's office Tuesday. Twenty-three stitches were required to close the wound.

Bomb Blast Kills Six In Cult Building

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP)—A bomb demolished the main building of a religious cult in a mountain canyon today. Six persons were killed and four are missing and believed dead.

Among those missing is Krishna Venta, bearded, barefoot mystic and founder of the cult.

A demolition expert from the Los Angeles police department said a bomb wrecked the sprawling building and touched off a raging fire. The five bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition.

Investigators learned that a stranger carrying a large suitcase was seen in a violent argument with Venta shortly before 2 a.m. Twenty minutes after the stranger left a tremendous explosion blew the building apart.

More than 30 persons were sleeping in the building at the time, 14 of them children. An 8-year-old girl is among those reported missing.

The remote canyon retreat is tucked away in mountains at the head of the San Fernando Valley, about 30 miles from Los Angeles.

Venta, a former San Francisco shipyard worker, founded the cult about 10 years ago. He called himself a Messiah and attracted a following of about 100 men, women and children.

The group practiced communal living and promised a home to "all who want to live the Ten Commandments, regardless of race or creed."

Five Jewish structures have been damaged by bombs in three Southern states this year.

Town To Fete Couple On 80th Anniversary

FAIRVIEW, Utah (AP) — Peter and Celestia Peterson celebrate their 80th wedding anniversary Thursday. Townspeople plan a testimonial dinner tonight in their honor.

They were wed in St. George, Utah, Dec. 11, 1878. He's now 98 and she's 97.

Both are hard of hearing, so they'll listen to the tributes tonight over a radio loudspeaker in their home.

Harold H. Jenson, historian for the Old Folks Central Committee of Salt Lake City, says his research shows the Petersons have been married longer than any other couple in the country. They hold a record, too, for the largest number of living descendants—293.

Actor Jay Robinson Cited On Dope Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Jay Robinson, 28, has been charged with possessing and selling heroin.

Robinson, who portrayed Emperor Caligula in the film version of "The Robe," was arrested at his home. Detectives said they found a quantity of narcotics, hypodermic needles and other equipment used in connection with narcotics.

NEW
Hardwick now introduces the newest, fastest, finest cooking yet, with MicroRay . . . the exclusive development of Hardwick engineers, allowing you to broil, roast or barbecue with efficient, 3-micron heat waves. Never before offered . . . offered today only by Hardwick.
What an exciting way to cook . . . with new, fast Micro Ray
New MicroRay Burner is a special feature of the new Hardwick Meat Oven, an oven built adjacent to the conventional Hardwick Baking Oven. This Meat Oven with the wonderful MicroRay Burner broils and browns all manner of foods with unheard-of uniformity . . . undreamed-of speed. An automatic rotisserie in the Meat Oven roasts and barbecues food to perfection . . . faster, easier, and with more savory success.
Just what is MicroRay? It is a burner with ceramic ports, rather than metal—having more than sixty times the number of heat outlets of conventional burners and attaining more than twice the instantaneous heat at the burner head. MicroRay instantly generates radiant heat waves so intense, so efficient that meats, fruits, even frozen foods are thawed and cooked with amazing speed. And yet, even this tremendously intense heat is always under complete thermostatic control.

Bomb Blast Kills Six In Cult Building

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP)—A bomb demolished the main building of a religious cult in a mountain canyon today. Six persons were killed and four are missing and believed dead.

Among those missing is Krishna Venta, bearded, barefoot mystic and founder of the cult.

A demolition expert from the Los Angeles police department said a bomb wrecked the sprawling building and touched off a raging fire. The five bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition.

Investigators learned that a stranger carrying a large suitcase was seen in a violent argument with Venta shortly before 2 a.m. Twenty minutes after the stranger left a tremendous explosion blew the building apart.

More than 30 persons were sleeping in the building at the time, 14 of them children. An 8-year-old girl is among those reported missing.

The remote canyon retreat is tucked away in mountains at the head of the San Fernando Valley, about 30 miles from Los Angeles.

Venta, a former San Francisco shipyard worker, founded the cult about 10 years ago. He called himself a Messiah and attracted a following of about 100 men, women and children.

The group practiced communal living and promised a home to "all who want to live the Ten Commandments, regardless of race or creed."

Five Jewish structures have been damaged by bombs in three Southern states this year.

Town To Fete Couple On 80th Anniversary

FAIRVIEW, Utah (AP) — Peter and Celestia Peterson celebrate their 80th wedding anniversary Thursday. Townspeople plan a testimonial dinner tonight in their honor.

They were wed in St. George, Utah, Dec. 11, 1878. He's now 98 and she's 97.

Both are hard of hearing, so they'll listen to the tributes tonight over a radio loudspeaker in their home.

Harold H. Jenson, historian for the Old Folks Central Committee of Salt Lake City, says his research shows the Petersons have been married longer than any other couple in the country. They hold a record, too, for the largest number of living descendants—293.
